ON THE ROAD . . .

A New Turn

Perhaps the biggest change on the University of Akron campus this year was the formal change of command for the UA presidency. Dr. William V. Muse succeeded Dr. Dominic J. Guzzetta on August 1, 1984.

Formerly the Vice Chancellor for Academic Programs and Planning for the Texas A&M University System, which consists of four academic institutions, Dr. Muse is not new to the Ohio area. In 1965, Dr. Muse began as Assistant Professor of Marketing at Ohio University in Athens. He remained there for five years, leaving his position as Director, Division of Research and Associate Professor of Marketing in 1970. Dr. Muse continued his education career at Appalachian State University in Boone, North Carolina where he served as the Dean of the College of Business for three years. He left in 1973 and held the same title at the University of Nebraska at Omaha until 1979, when he went to Texas A&M.

Dr. Muse is the 12th President of The University of Akron.

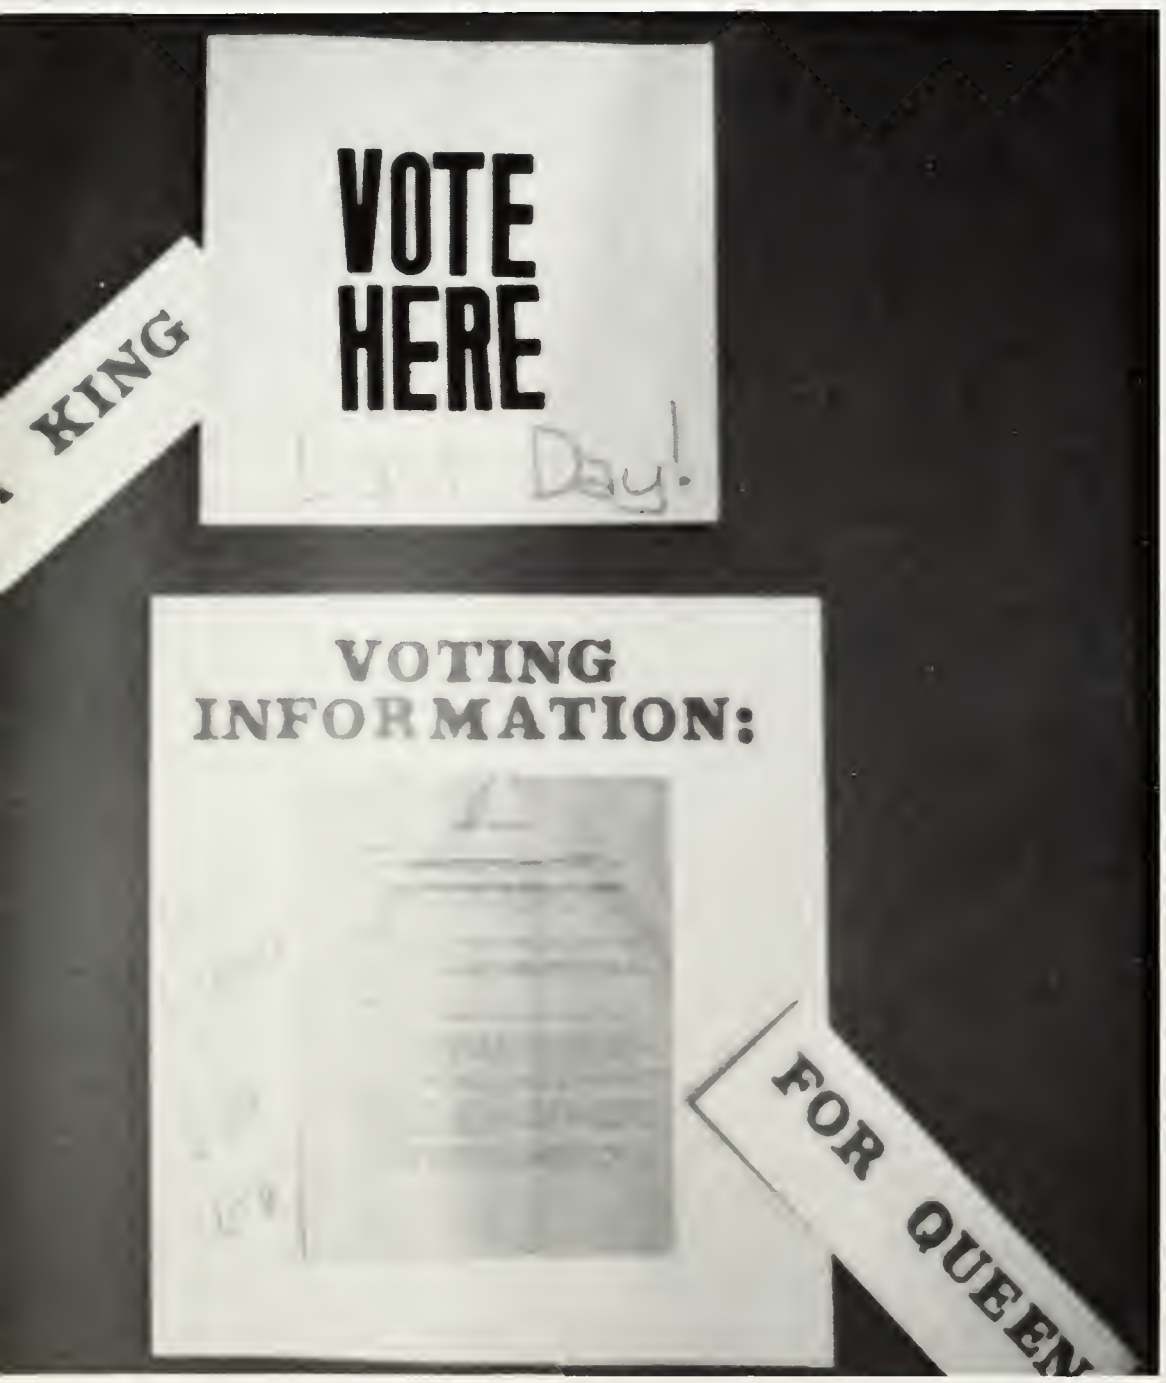
During 1977-78 Dr. Muse was selected as a Presidential Interchange Executive, Executive Office of the President, Washington, DC, in order to improve managerial effectiveness.

At age 45, Dr. Muse is the author of three books. He and his wife, Marlene, have three children.

From Far Away . . .

On October 19, 1983, a mainly pro-Cuban military regime attacked Grenada. Nearly 2,000 U.S. troops invaded Grenada in order to protect U.S. citizens, most of them students at St. George's University Medical School. Nearly 200 U.S. Marines were killed when their Beirut command post was bombed that October. It was dubbed the bloodiest attack against the U.S. military since Vietnam.

Jean Janek is crowned 1983 Homecoming Queen.



Tom Sawyer is Akron's new mayor.

Evangelist Mike Wovoniecki expresses his beliefs.

Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale chose the first female vice-presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro. Meanwhile, Rev. Jesse Jackson seemed to make a bigger splash with minorities.

While Akron definitely voted in a new Mayor, Tom Sawyer, we almost saw a Democratic presidential debate between Mondale and Hart on campus. Akron also almost hosted a national sex convention at the Cascade Holiday Inn.

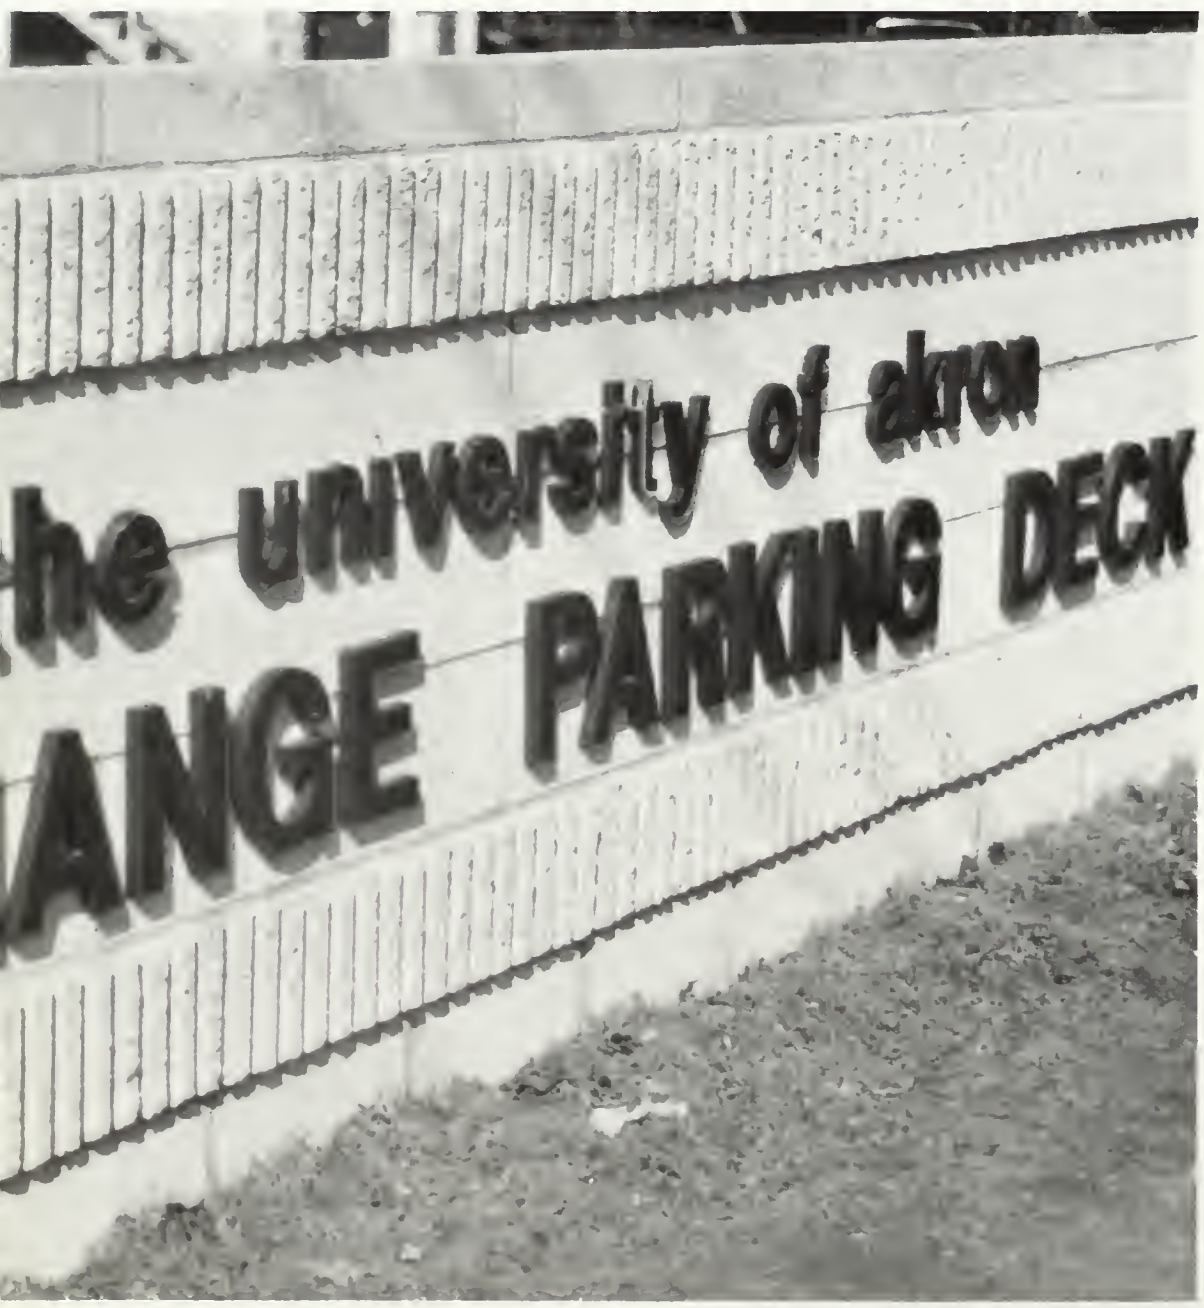
Quite on the opposite end, Evangelist Michael Wovoniecki created a lot of controversy by yelling to campus passers-by his positions on man's relationship with God. Carrying an eight-foot cross, Wovoniecki passed out literature with help from his wife and child.

. . . To Around the Corner

1983 Zipped By . . .

Beer stamps are enforced during May Day.

December 8, 1983 marked three years since John Lennon's death. The clock turned to 1984, the year of George Orwell's predictions, while marking the 20th anniversary of the Beatle's invasion upon America.



Construction takes form as the new gym is finished. Left: Could this be commuters only hope for the future?

Break dancing became a #1 fad in 1984.

Let's be blunt.

Ohio residents voted down issue #1, which would have raised the drinking age from 19 to 21 years old. Meanwhile, campus organizations did their best to enforce the 19 beer law.

The Health and Physical Education Building opened for the basketball season with a big splash, despite the fact that it was not yet dedicated to any one person. Because of the loss of parking spaces on campus, some students wanted to "nuke the gym," while others welcomed the plans for a new natatorium.

. . . Enter 1984

UA and the USA

Rob Kochis was re-elected as the ASG president and Rodney Yates, the 1983-84 vice-president, was nominated the first black Senior Board president on the UA campus.

University officials discussed the "Span the Tracks" plan to expand the campus over to downtown Akron.

Films such as Terms of Endearment gave us The Big Chill and Flashdance left us Footloose. Michael Jackson swept world headlines, while bands such as The Lighweights, Revolver, and Regent Street entertained us at the local scenes.

"Span the Tracks."

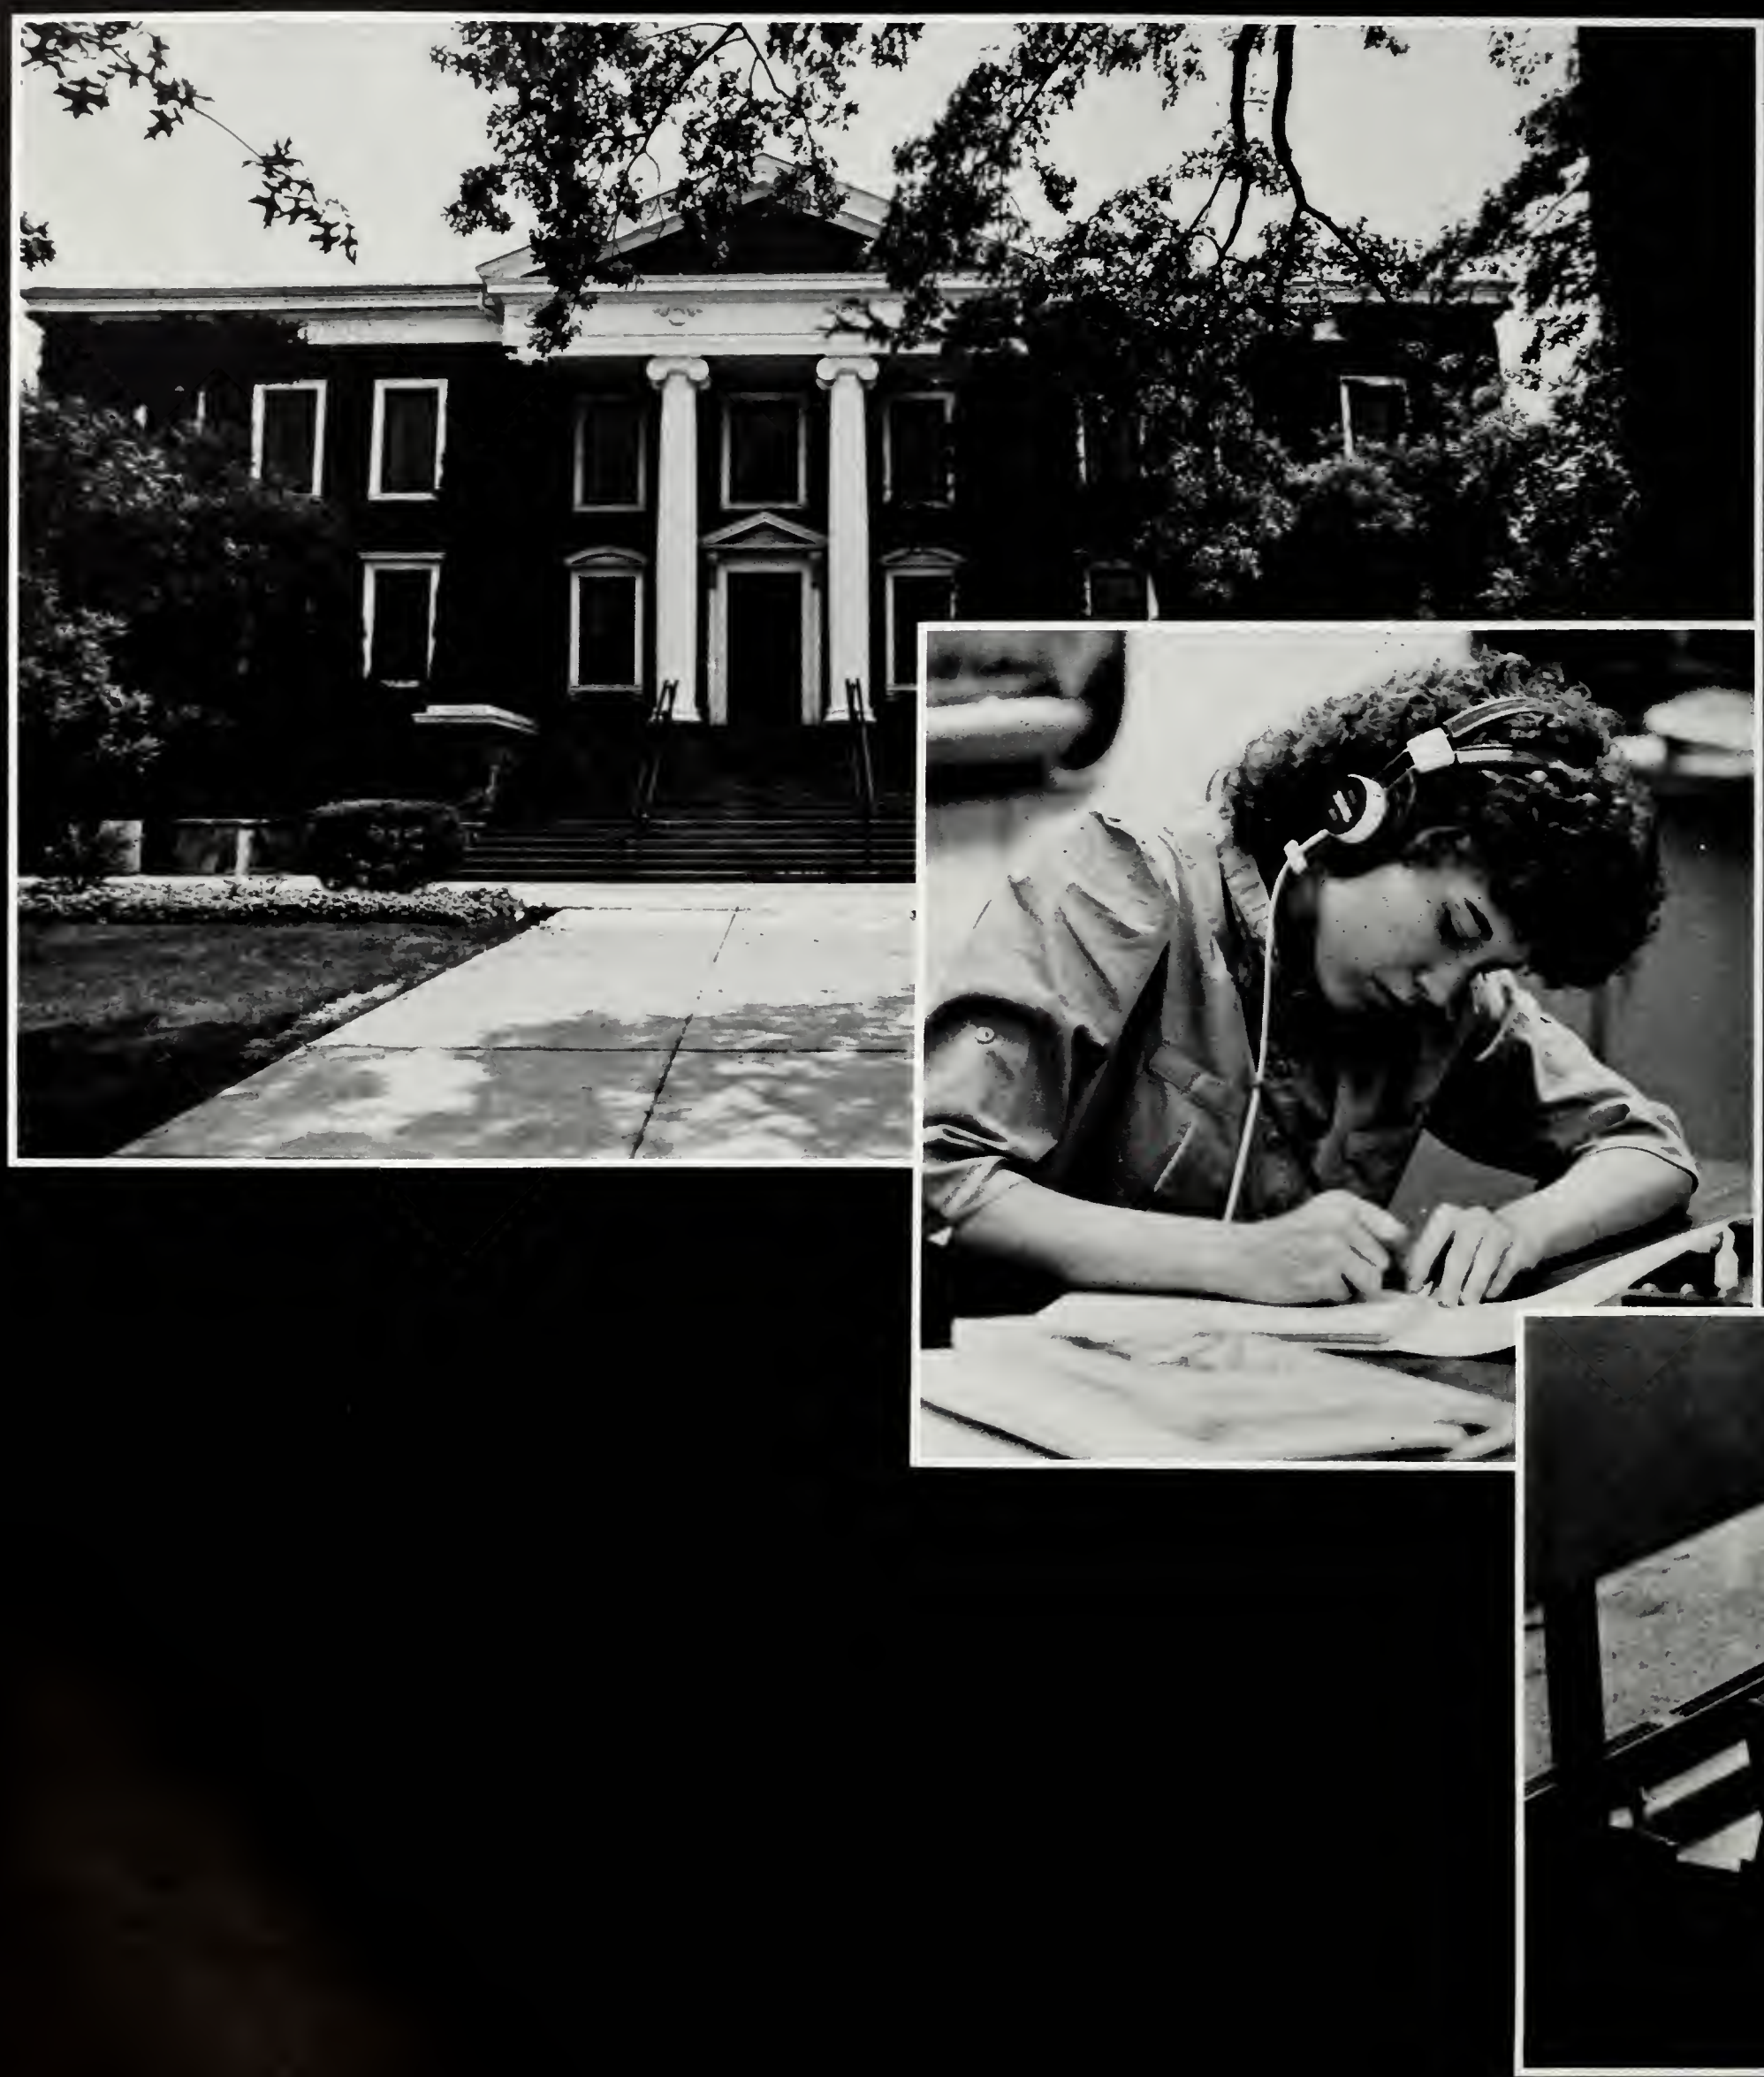
College Street was blocked-off to see if traffic would re-route if closed. Obviously, traffic will not!

Rodney Yates makes a point during an ASG meeting.

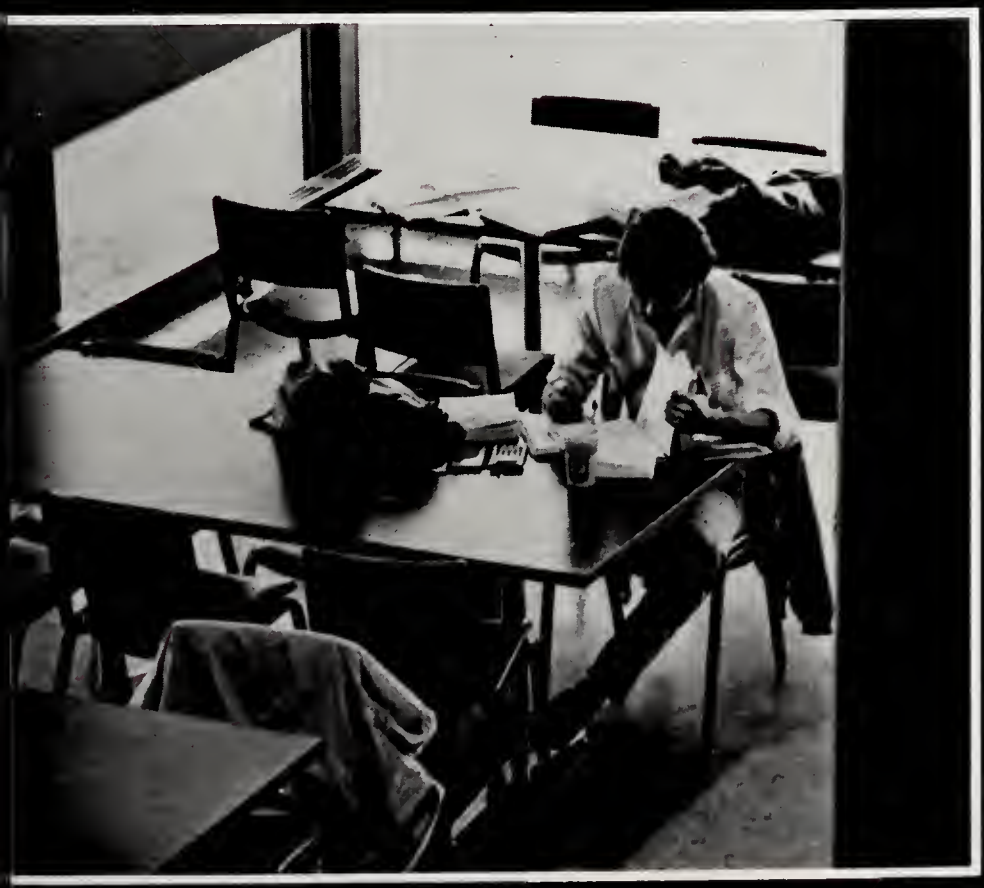
"The band in the land." Regent Street performs in the Chuckery.

The Lightweights were a hit at Mugs as well as the Hilltop.

The USA gained many victories during the 1984 Summer Olympic games in Los Angeles. The men's USA gymnastic team won the first-place gold medal overall for the first time in history.



ACADEMICS



Dominic J. Guzzetta:

The man behind the president

Early every morning people passing by Buchtel Hall could catch Dominic J. Guzzetta mounting the front stairs two at a time on his way to his office with as much vigor as he did when he began in the field of education 36 years ago.

With 13 years as president, Guzzetta has proven to be ambitious and somewhat of a workaholic. Education, however, was not always his main career goal.

After being valedictorian of his high school class in Civilcreek, NY, he started college pursuing a degree in law. After he dropped back to part-time status, he worked as a sheetmetal worker, assistant cobbler to his father, and a musician in a band that he organized.

He joined the New York State National Guard in 1940 and one year later was called to serve in World War II. After five years in the service, Guzzetta returned home and went back to college.

In 1948 he graduated Cum Laude with a bachelor's degree in history and government. With his professional interests narrowed down to education and music, it was time to make a decision. "The fact that I had a family at that stage of my life, and I knew that the field of music would not provide the security I needed," said Guzzetta.

While working as a secondary school teacher in New York he attended the University of Buffalo, where he received his master's degree in history and secondary education. Two years later he received his doctorate in higher education and educational administration.

Guzzetta came to The University of Akron in 1954 to serve as assistant Dean of the Evening College and Adult Educational Division. For the following 13 years he served UA as Dean of the General College, Vice-president and Dean of Administration, and Senior Vice-president and Provost.

In 1968 Guzzetta left UA to serve as president of Marion College in Indianapolis, IN. In 1971 he returned to UA to begin his 13 years as president of the university. He retired in compliance with a university regulation that requires administrative personnel to leave at age 65. He was given the title of President Emeritus.

"I am retiring from the presidency of the university only, certainly not from active duty of any kind," he said.

Retirement will be a time of great change for him. He plans to maintain a very active life. "I have no plans beyond August 31 (his retirement date) I hope there will be an opportunity for me to utilize my abilities and interests and remain productive in the capacity I am used to."

College of Arts and Sciences

The Buchtel College of Arts and Sciences is the oldest college on campus. The college is composed of three divisions: Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences.

The Humanities division is concerned with the intellectual traditions of man through the study of classics, languages, literature, and philosophy.

Chemistry majors spend plenty of time in lab.

Dean Claibourn Griffin is also a chemistry professor.

Geography majors work on their mapping project.

The Natural Sciences division is the professionally-oriented division in this college with course studies in biology, chemistry, computer science, geology, mathematics, physics, and statistics.

The Social Sciences division emphasizes participation in community affairs through courses in economics, geography, history, political science, psychology, and sociology.

Business Administration

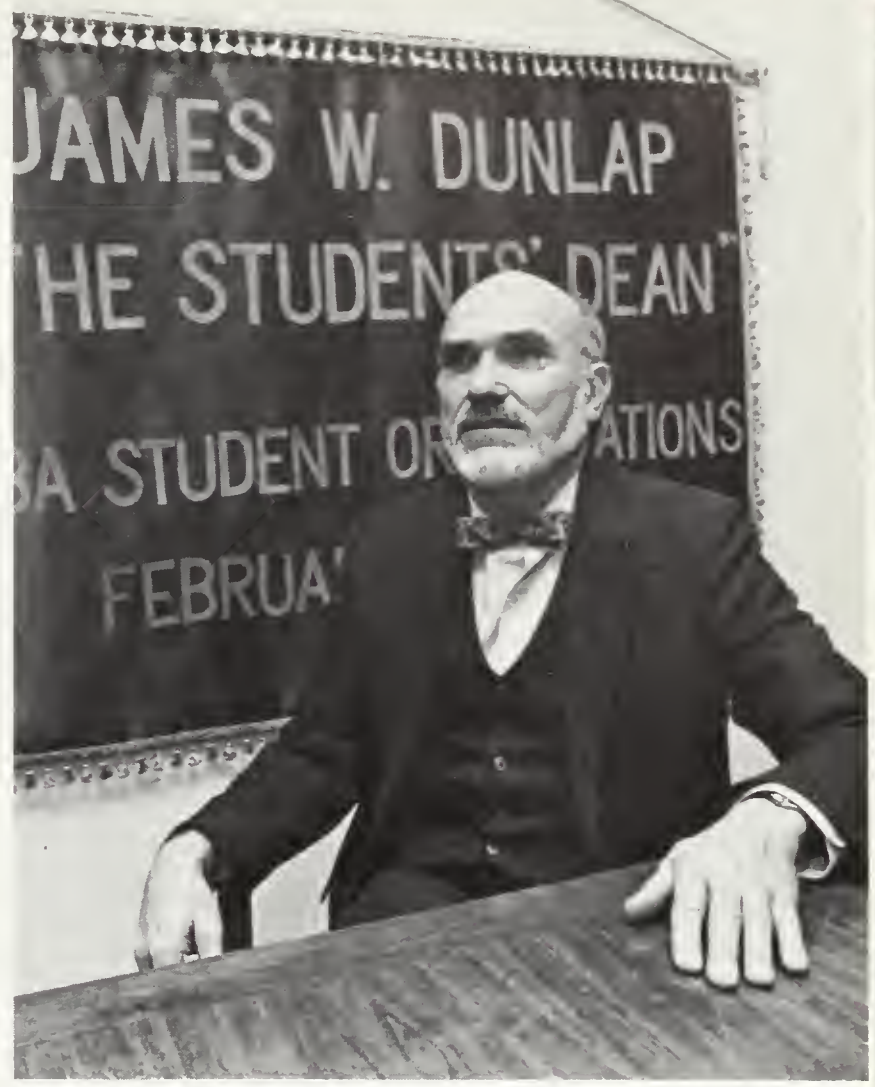
Should American Product and Inventory Control Society (APICS) members shorten its name?

The College of Business Administration provides a program of education in business to prepare the students for a career in commerce, industry and government.

The college is a member of the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business and offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs.

Five baccalaureate degrees are offered by the college. They are: Accounting, Business Administration, Management, Finance, and Marketing.

Business students wear their bow ties.



Dean Dunlop wears his bow tie.

Meg Hamlin and Bob Lung lead Accounting meetings.

Sigma Iota Epsilon initiates newcomers.

C & T College

C & T students and faculty enjoy a spring picnic.

The Community and Technical College celebrated its 20th anniversary this year.

It provides a wide variety of programs of instruction which lead to associate degrees in Business and Office Technology, Engineering and Science Technology, and Allied Health Technology.

The college also offers programs leading to baccalaureate degrees in both Electronic and Mechanical Technology.

Dean Weyrick, of the C & T College.

C & T offers electronics courses.

Faculty members enjoy the 20th anniversary celebration.

Hospitality Management is a C & T major.

Wayne General and Technical

The Wayne General and Technical College is located near Orrville, Ohio. It was established in 1972 through the Wayne College and the University of Akron.

Students may choose to complete the first two years of the college program at Wayne before transferring to the main campus. Others may choose to complete an associated degree in Business Management, Retail Management, Secretarial or Social Science.

Students never have spare-time.

Smaller classes allow more individual attention.

Dean Turning, of Wayne General.

The Wayne campus is only 12 years old.

Education

The College of Education offers programs for the preparation of elementary and secondary teachers, counselors, school administrators and other educational personnel.

In addition to providing a foundation in general education, the college offers an intensive study in technical and administrative areas along with courses and experiences which combine theory and practice.

Surrounding school districts cooperate with the college in advisory capacities and are used for observation and for the assignment of student teachers. Approximately 50 percent of the teachers in the Akron Public Schools attended the University of Akron.

Natalie Prioli, Special Education major.

Dean Barker, of the College of Education.

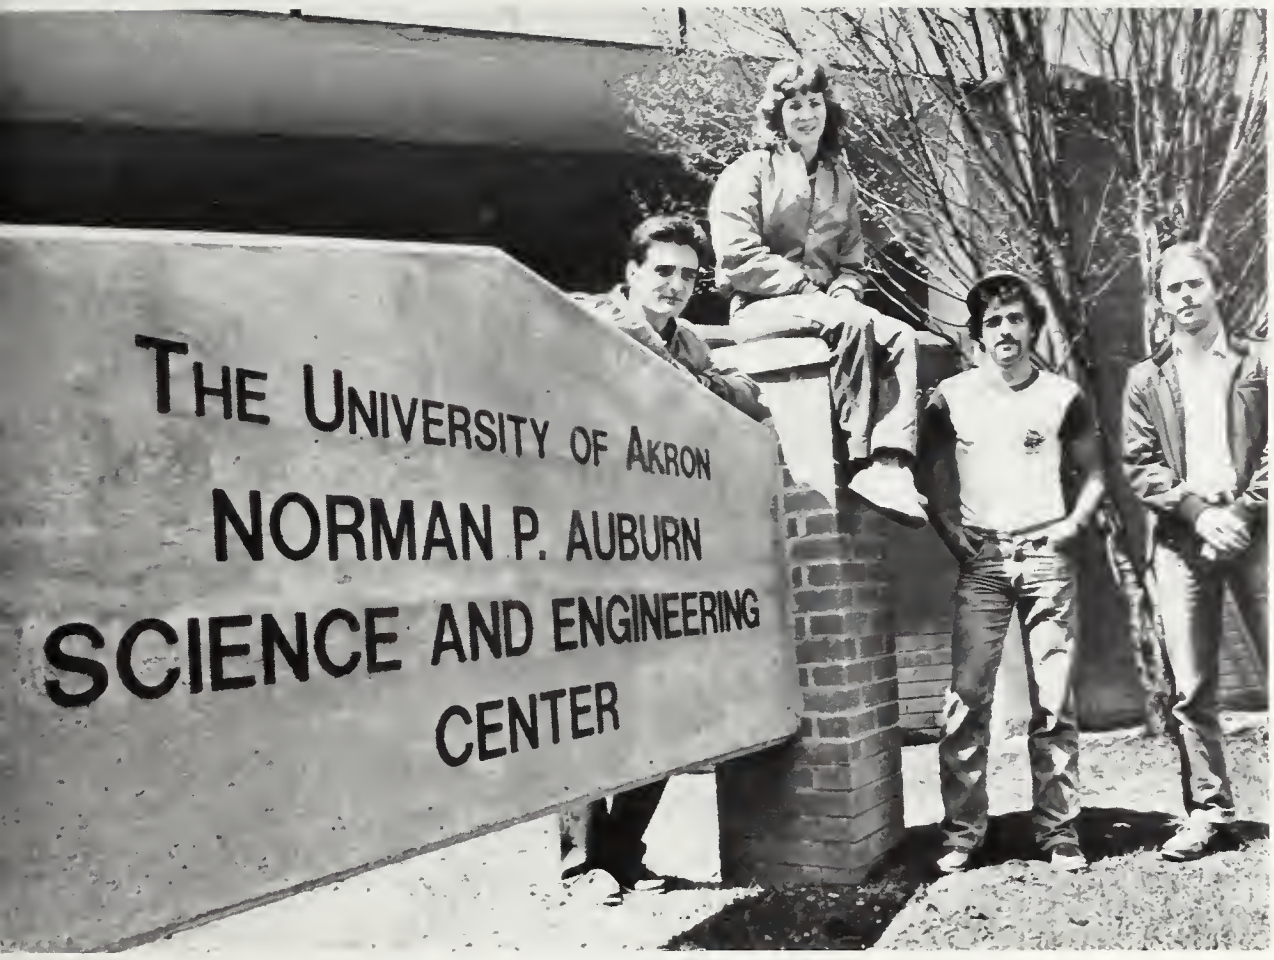
Engineering

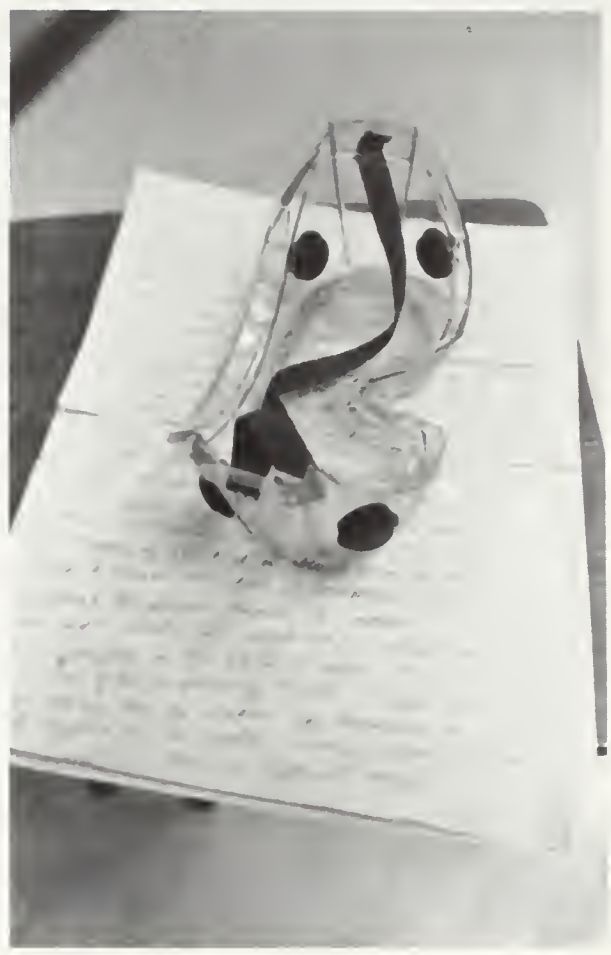
The College of Engineering provides a five-year cooperative plan to a majority of its undergraduates. The cooperative plan combines the development of fundamental principles in the classroom and their application in industrial practice.

A Student may choose from six degrees including Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Engineering.

Louis Hill, Dean of Engineering.

Civil Engineering students build and race concrete canoes.





American Civil Engineers members built the ASC sign.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers member enjoys refreshments.

A member of the Institute of Electrical Engineers lectures.

Evening College

The Evening College and Summer Sessions at the University of Akron offer an education to those other than the traditional students.

Courses of every level from non-credit vocational through PhD are offered both in the evening and during the summer.

The Evening College has established many organizations and extra-curricular activities which are similar to those of the day college. Some of these organizations are the Evening Student Council, Alpha Epsilon, and Chi Sigma Nu.

Members of the evening woman's sorority, Gamma Beta.

Fine and Applied Arts

Billy Henry writes for The Buchtelite.

A theatre major puts on make-up.

The College of Fine and Applied Arts provides students with artistic, technological, clinical, and studio experience in the arts.

A goal of the college is to develop a working knowledge and awareness of the arts within each student.

Areas of study include: Home Economics, Music, Art, Mass Media-Communication, Communicative Disorders, and Theatre and Dance.

Music majors can learn every instrument.

Gerald Kneiter, Dean of F & AA, relaxes.

Communication majors learn to edit film.

Music majors give recitals.

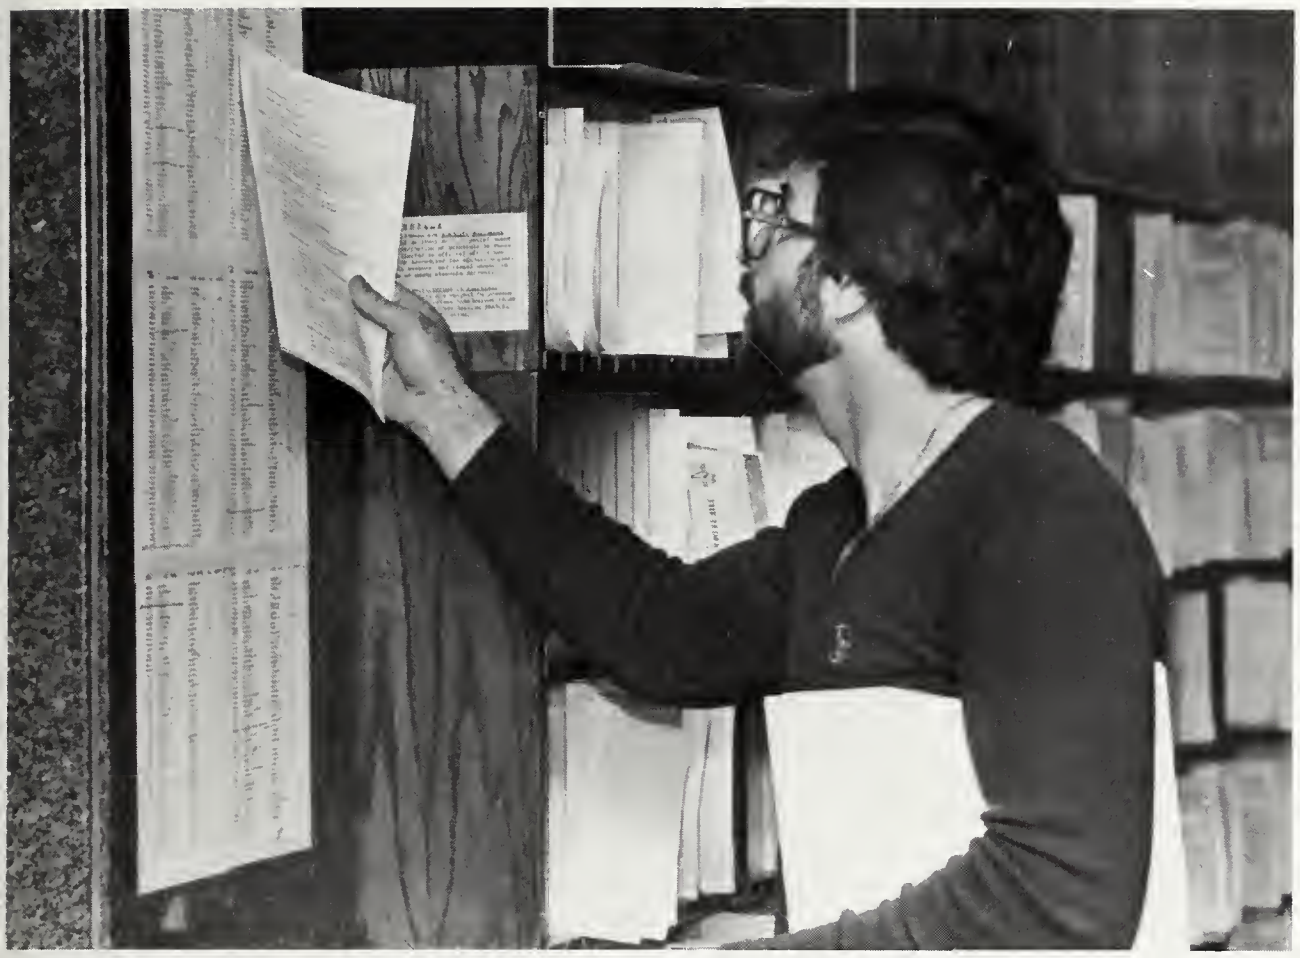
School of Law

Law students spend hours in the library.

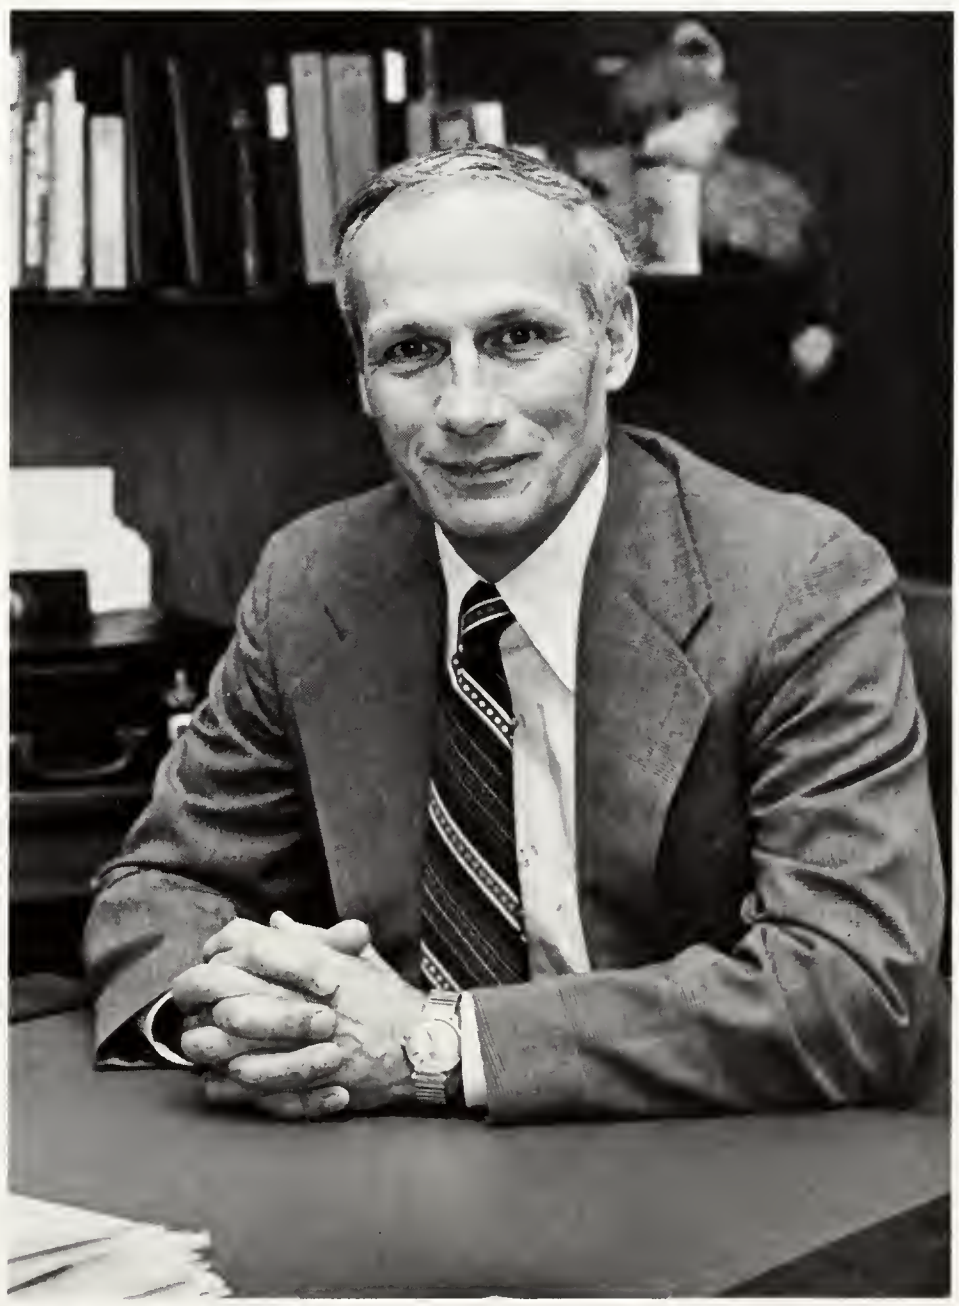
The School of Law was established in 1959 to provide students with the opportunity to receive the degree of Juris Doctor.

A student in the school obtains a fundamental knowledge of law and the role of law in society. This knowledge enables graduates to become attorneys and counselors-at-law, as well as leaders in governmental affairs.

Law students are required to have an undergraduate degree from an accredited college or university in an appropriate field of study.



It seems that the paper work never ends.



Dean Jenkins, of the School of Law.

Nursing

Nursing students man a table for Career Day.

The College of Nursing provides students with an education in theories and concepts along with the practice and application of nursing skills.

Acceptance into the college is limited to 180 students each year.

The college offers a four-year program of study to the generic student and the registered nurse.

Lillian DeYoung, Dean of Nursing.

A student gathers information about a nursing career.

Nursing students graduate in a December ceremony.

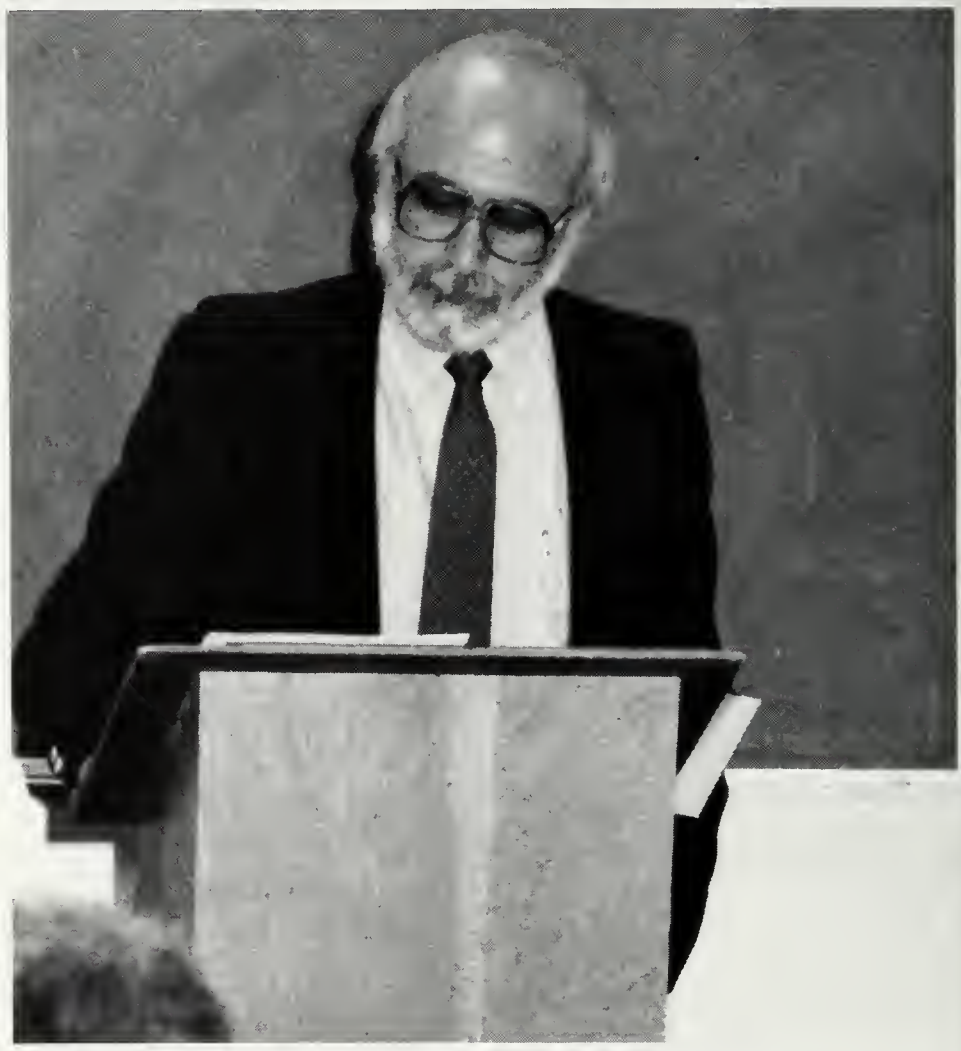
Collegiate Nursing Students Club met often.

University College

The University College provides students with a well-rounded starting point toward a professional goal.

The college offers general studies courses including: speech, english composition, world history, and a variety of physical education courses.

The counseling office helps students adjust to the collegiate environment and develop academic, personal, and occupational objectives.



Dr. Maio conducts Western Cult lectures.

Some students find that tennis is their "racquet."

Students meet phys-ed requirement with swimming

Daen Ruebel, of the University College.

NEOUCOM

The Northeastern Ohio Universities College of Medicine (NEOUCOM), established in 1973, is formed by students from the University of Akron, Kent State University, and Youngstown State University.

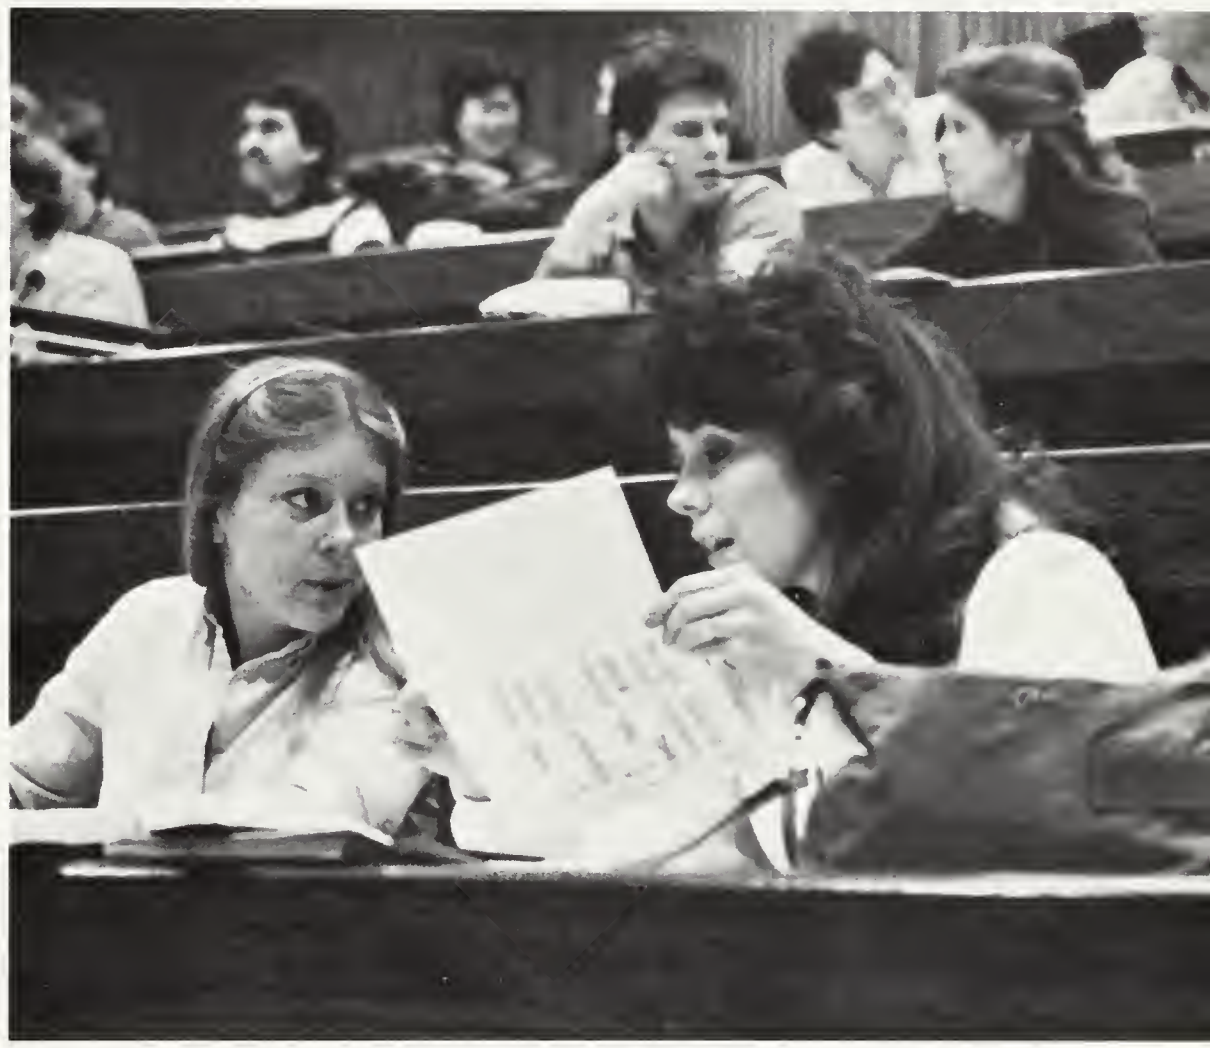
Students must complete 11 months of study during each of their six years in the program in order to receive a bachelors and a Doctor of Medicine degree.

A medical student conducts research.

Students enjoy the NEOUCOM banquet.

Leg bone's connected to the hip bone.

Conducting experiments is part of learning.



Students discuss their notes before class.

NEOUCOM faculty make use of their lounge.

The first two years are spent on one of the university's campuses focusing on studies in the humanities and basic pre-medical courses. The third year of study is conducted at the Basic Medical Sciences Campus in Rootstown, Ohio.

Students spend most of their three final years developing skills at one or more of the associated community hospitals.

Zips Head Into NCAA Post-Season Tournament.

For the first time since 1976 the Zips, under the direction of Head coach Steve Parker, qualified for the NCAA post-season tournament. If you add this accomplishment to also winning the OSCA for the fourth year in a row and a number 15 ranking in the nation at the end of the season, you can see that soccer is easily becoming a force to be reckoned with in the future.

The Zips were led by second team All-American and team MVP Simon Spelling, leading scorer J.B. Amangoua, Steve Frick, and Glenn Scarpelli. Shawn Pendleton and goalie Sean Burke led the defense that broke three team records, including most shutouts.

The team was constantly put to the test this year and responded well with ties to national powers Penn State and Indiana, with wins over such reknown soccer programs as Cleveland State and Wisconsin Green-Bay.

Tim Nash lets his feet do the talking as he controls the ball.

With Simon Spelling looking on, senior Ray Szabat lets the ball go down field.

Head Coach Steve Parker plans a new Strategy with teammembers

Head Coach Jim Dennison.

Despite losing key players during the early part of the season, the Zips fought back to win their last five games, becoming only the fifth team in U of A history to win eight or more games, in football. After defeating Kent State, before the largest crowd of the season, the Zips shutout Morehead State and annihilated "Turnpike rival" Youngstown State.

James Black and Dennis Heckman ended their careers at Akron by breaking a combined total of 13 U of A records and five OVC records. Black's record included: rushing for 3,054 yards in his career and 1, 568 yards in his senior year. He was named OVC offensive player of the year along with Honorable Mention All-American. Heckman's 17 field goals and 72 points in his senior year broke two OVC records.

ACME-ZIP GAME

Before a sellout crowd of 37,111 the Akron Zips defeated their arch-rival, the Golden Flashes from Kent State 13-6 in the 30th annual Acme-Zip Game. The Rubber Bowl was rocking on opening night as Dennis Heckman kicked two field goals and Robert Johnson ran back a 44 yard interception for the Zips only touchdown. With this win the Wagon Wheel trophy belonged to the Zips for another year.

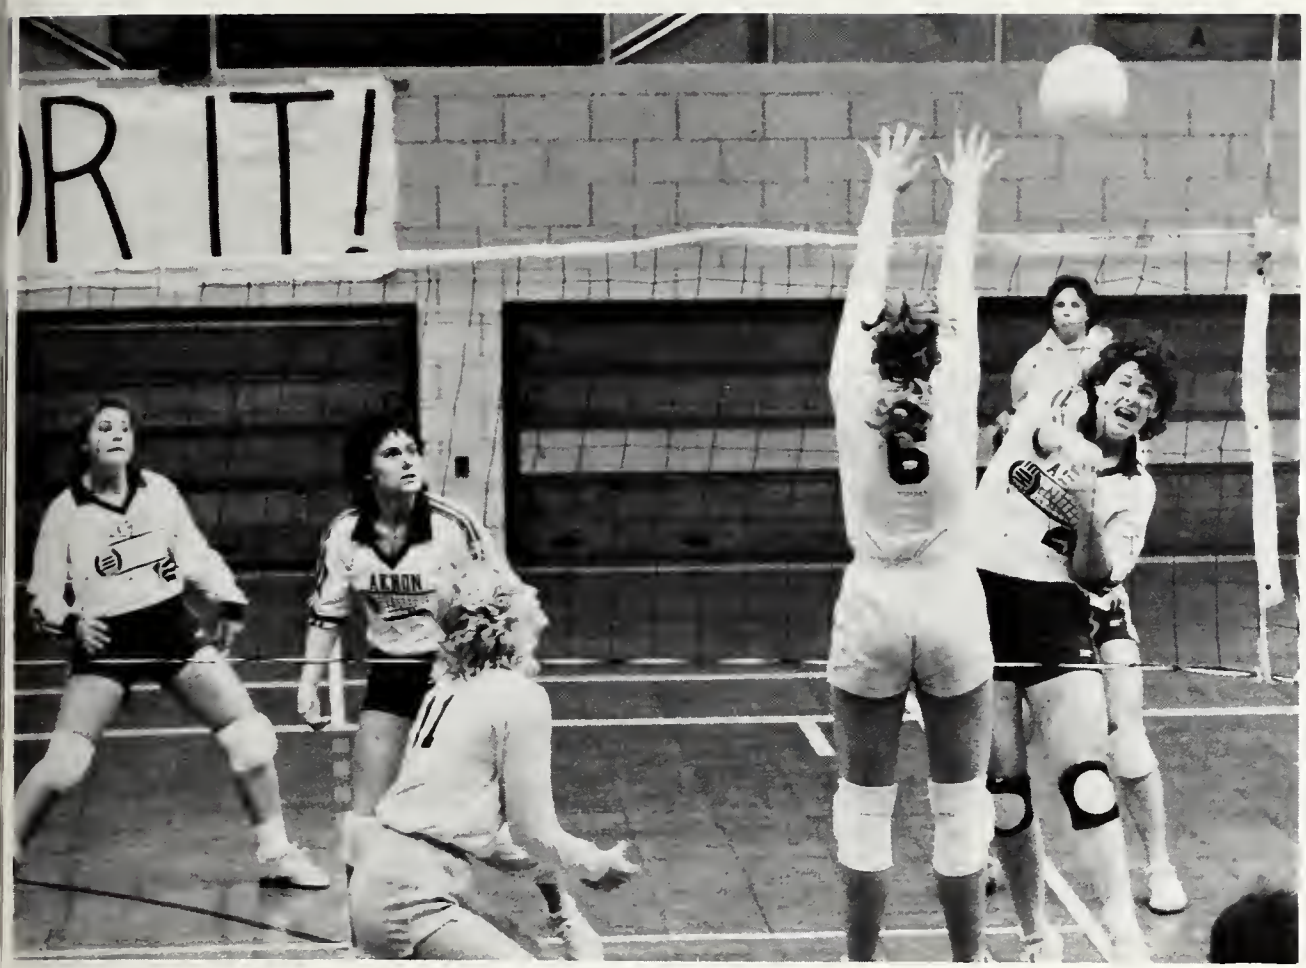
Under new Head Coach Pam Meece, the Lady Zips Volleyball team compiled 47 wins this year, the most by any women's team in the history of U of A sports.

The Lady Zips, led by Deanne Sommer, Kay Piper, Julie Nichols, and Carol Brunie, ran off streaks of 14 wins and 10 wins in a row different times of the season. The Zips finished third in the OVC midseason tournament and fourth in the OVC Championship tournament.

Kay Piper, who was Co-MVP with Deanne Sommer and named to the All OVC Team for both mid-season and championship play and was the team's top offensive line. Jan Buczkiewicz was top defensive player and Mary Fedor was most improved player.



Kay Piper spikes for a point.

The Women's basketball team under second year coach John Street struggled a bit in their first year in the OVC. After starting relatively well, the Lady Zips went on a tailspin for the remainder of the year and never got out of it.

Opening in the New Health & Physical Education Building the Zips defeated Malone 82-71, they won their first OVC game over Murray St. and they crushed Hiram to name a few of the season's highlights.

K. K. Turner, an OVC player of the week, led Akron in 6 categories including scoring, assists, and steals and was named team MVP. Paula Davis and Lori Rotruck, the team's only two seniors left the Hilltop becoming the fifth & sixth leading all-time scorers, respectively. Freshmen center Sue Dobosh had a season high of 19 rebounds against Malone, while Ruth Whatmough was the team's Most Improved Player.

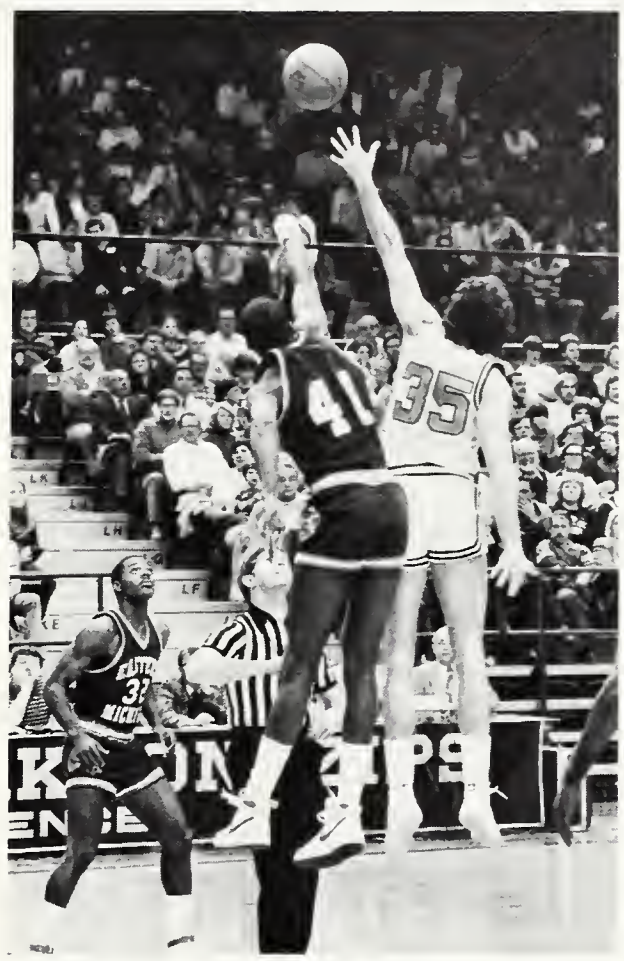
An Era Begins . . .



Rick Acord looks for someone to pass to against Bowling Green.

A new era began in front of 6,382 cheering fans as the Zips downed E. Michigan to open the New Health & Physical Educational Building. Even with a new complex and bigger crowds the Zips struggled through the whole year and ended up with a disappointing season.

The Zips, though, kept us on the edge of our seats for 6 overtime games, including a triple overtime contest against Youngstown State. However, they lost all 11 games they played away from the confines of the U. of A.

Joe Jacubick closed out his career at Akron in grand fashion, leading the nation in scoring and being named OVC. player of the year for his efforts. Bryan Roth led the team in rebounds and was second in the team scoring. Jamie Suthers and Curt Shaffer earned Most Improved Player and Best Defensive Player, respectively.

The era of Joe Jakubick has come to an end here, but not without a fantastic senior year. He led the Zips this year in scoring and steals, and was second in rebounding. His 30.1 average (814) points. not only led the OVC in scoring, but the whole nation as well. Joe put in 28 versus OSU and Jacksonville, 30 against BGSU, 41 against Morehead State, 42 versus Illinois-Chicago, just to name a few.

He broke 25 U of A records in four years, 13 of them in his senior year alone. He also holds OVC career records including most points. (2,583).

For all his efforts this year he was named Zips MVP, most consistent performance award, 4-time OVC player of the week, unanimous first team All OVC Player of the Year, and honorable mention All-American. These were honors that were well-deserved.

Third Year Is a Charm

Chris Mioduszeski clears the bar easily.

The third season of existence for the Women's track team was definitely a charm as the Lady Zips had their best record ever with a 26-3 mark. They won four meets during the year and had twelve straight wins to start the season.

The Lady Zips broke seven records, including the long jump by Chris Mioduszeski, Discus by Tracie Haynes, and 3000 and 5000 meter run by Sue Whitmer, and tied 10 others.

Mioduszeski and Whitmer shared Most Valuable Player for the year. Haynes was Best Thrower, and Tina Cannaday, Best Sprinter.

UA Female Athlete of the Year, Dani Vance.

In only their 5th year of existence, the Lady Zips made it to the finals of the fast-pitch softball Division II final. The Zips ended up second in the nation and won 48 games, breaking the record of 47 by the volleyball team.

The offense, which scored 326 runs, was led by Co-MVP Tina Mayries and Best Offensive player Kay Piper. Mayries led the team in batting average. Piper led the team in home runs, RBI's, and triples.

Pitching was the name of the game for the Zips: 33 shutouts, four no-hitters, six 1-hitters and only 49 runs scored. Renee Vance, Linda Weber and Sharon McFarland combined for 31-2 mark. Dani Vance, CO-MVP, won the UA Female Athlete of the Year. This marks the third time that she has received this award.

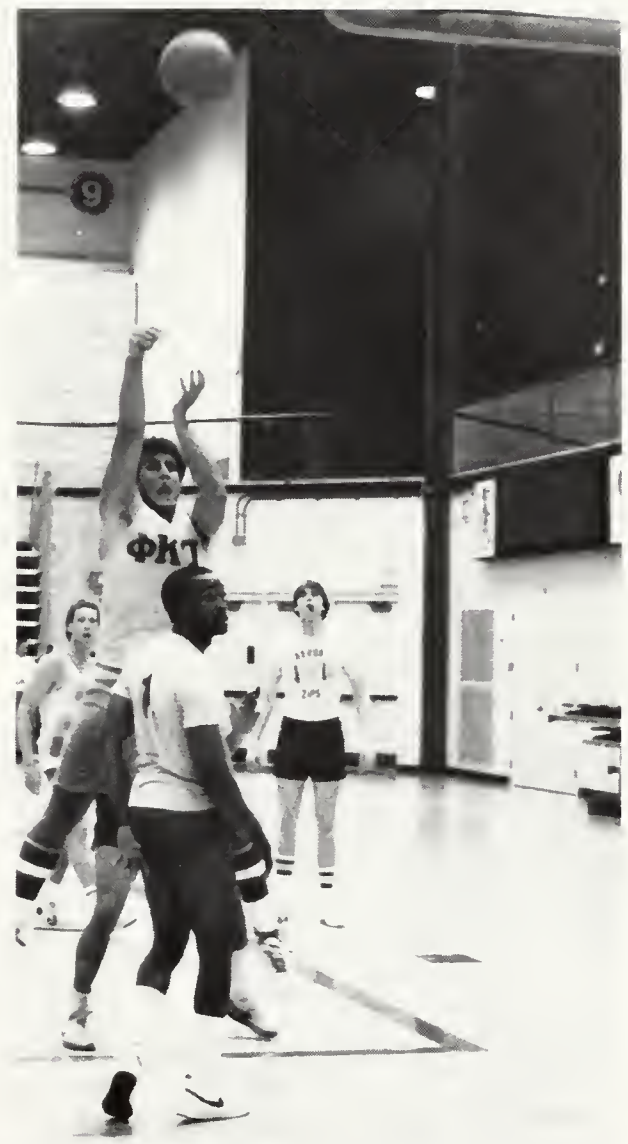
Keeping in shape with Intramurals



Intramurals once again played a big part in student involvement at Akron this year. Everyone from the former athletes to those who just wanted to have fun participated in the program. A wide variety of sports are featured; there are 11 sports in all. There's always something to keep everyone in shape.

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Government

Working to make campus life better was the purpose of all the items on Associated Student Government's (ASG) agenda. From polling students to find out their opinions to providing a "buddy" for exchange students, ASG sponsored many programs designed to meet the needs of everyone on campus.

This year ASG held the first Club Convention which allowed members of organizations to meet and discuss campus issues.

ASG president, Rob Kochis, was one of the eleven members on the Presidential Search Committee, which reviewed candidates for the successor to Pres. Guzzetta.

Jane Petit enjoys being on the Senate.

Black United Students

Roytunda Young and Tony Weaver enjoy fine food at the ball.

Black United Students (BUS) is an organization with a goal of uniting black students on campus. BUS encourages its members to get involved on campus as well as to achieve academic success.

This year BUS, sponsored speeches, a wet T-shirt contest, the Gospel Experience, and a number of dances. Many BUS members also worked on the Rev. Jesse Jackson's campaign during the democratic presidential primaries.

Kim Kates, president, is all wet at the T-shirt contest.

A chorus sings a hymn at the Gospel Experience.

University Program Board

The University Program Board (UPB), a new organization on campus this year formed by the merger of Student Center Programming and the Campus Activities Board, offered a variety of on-campus events.

UPB, is a student-run organization open to any University of Akron student interested in planning events and entertainment.

UPB met weekly to plan events such as the Renaissance Fayre, the Madalyn Murray O'Hair—Sen. Mark Hatfield debate on public school prayer, billiard player Nick Varner, and hyponotist James Mapes.

UPB sponsored lectures and cultural activities as well. In addition to these events UPB showed movies in the Gardner Student Center Theatre.

Chuckery entertainment offered by UPB included TGIF parties, the Coffee House Series, and the Miller Rock Series.

Dr. Knepper shows off his gift from the council.

Sponsoring numerous events the Evening Student Council worked to give evening students the opportunity to become active on campus.

This year the council held two job seminars, their annual dinner dance, and a T-Shirt contest in which students designed their own shirts. The year was topped off with the annual Evening Students Awards Banquet, honoring the achievements of many students.

Evening Activity

Billy Goode welcomes an initiate into Alpha Sigma Lambda.

Providing evening students with the chance to make long-lasting friendships is a goal of both Gamma Beta sorority and the honorary, Alpha Sigma Lambda.

Gamma Beta met monthly, planning such events as seminars, the mother-daughter banquet, and CPR lessons. Members also participated in holiday programs at the Buchtel House Children's Home.

Alpha Sigma Lambda, the evening students honorary comparable to the Dean's list, held two social activities this year giving the honor students a chance to get acquainted.

Barb McCrea speaks at the initiation ceremony.

Gamma Beta sisters enjoy their meeting.

The Buchtelite

Covering news from campus issues to national issues and how it effected students, the Buchtelite staff gained journalistic experience by publishing two issues of the paper each week during the fall and spring semesters.

The Buchtelite, which is staffed by students with different majors, changed the publication days this year. Students found the paper on campus on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Dr. Parmenter, left, discusses a story with staff members.

Nite-Life

Karen Ritte looks proudly at the finished product.

This year the Nite-Life staff mailed nearly 8,000 copies of the Evening College's newspaper out each month, keeping students informed on campus issues and evening activities.

Evening students, who received a copy of the paper at their home, found advertising for the first time in this year's editions.

The Field of Communication

PRSSA members tour the Hitchcock Fleming & Associates Inc. PR firm.

The Public Relations Student Society of America (PRSSA) sponsored lectures and field trips for this year.

PRSSA received national recognition for the professional quality of its newsletter.

Women in Communications Inc. (WICI) is an organization open to all communication majors.

WICI met often this year, welcoming speakers from the broadcast media and the public relations fields.

The years biggest event was the Dorothy Fuldheim lecture, which WICI co-sponsored with AERho.

Recognizing Achievement

Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK) are honoraries that recognize their members for scholarship, leadership, and service on and off campus. Both honoraries sponsored the All-Campus Recognition Dinner and the Presidential Brunch.

ODK held fall and spring tapping breakfasts and initiation dinners this year.

Mortar Board sponsored a lecture series and its 19th annual book sale.

Freshmen Honoraries

Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma are the freshmen honoraries for women and men on campus.

To be inducted into an honorary, a freshman must be a full-time student with a grade point average of 3.5 or better. Once a freshman is inducted into the honorary, he or she is a life-time member.

Both freshmen honoraries held fall and spring initiation banquets this year. They also joined their Kent State affiliates in an ice skating party.

Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma members volunteered as tutors for the University's developmental program.

Social Workers

The Student Social Work League and the social work honorary, Alpha Alpha Alpha, strive to maintain close communication within the department and the community.

This year the League sponsored workshops and held their annual Christmas food drive.

Alpha Alpha Alpha sponsored fall and spring initiation banquets. This year the honorary held a memorial ceremony for Mr. Bernard Clifford, assistant professor of Social Work, who passed away during the fall semester.

Rev. Robert Denton speaks to Alpha Alpha Alpha members.

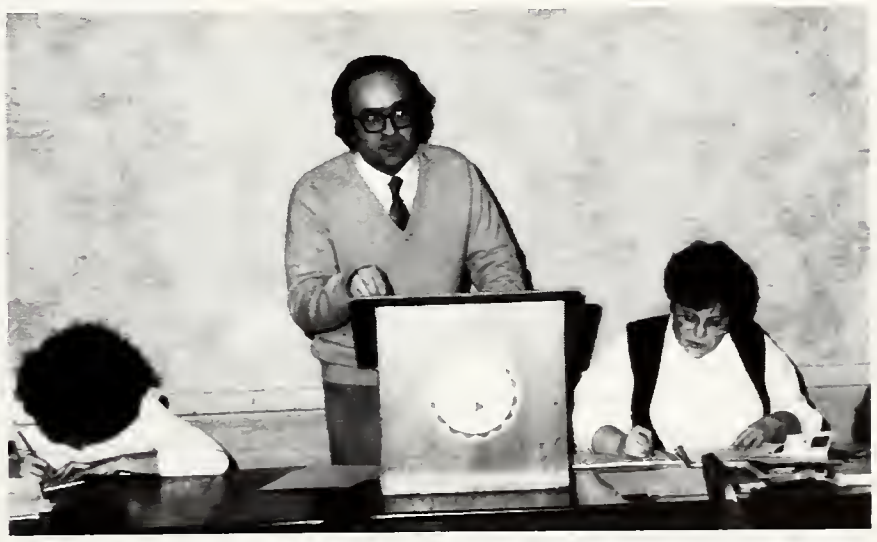
So to Speak

Jennifer Crawford, Forensic Union vice-president, debates.

The Forensic Union and Student Toastmasters offer students the chance to develop and strengthen their speaking skills.

Student Toastmasters met three times a week preparing members for the 15 speech contests they entered this year.

The Forensic Union held many debates with topics ranging from abortion to the re-election of Pres. Reagan. The Union also sponsored the Ashton Speech Contest in the Spring. Some members attended five inter-collegiate speech tournaments this year.



Dennis Mahoney speaks for the unborn's right to life.

In the Marketplace

Both Pi Sigma Epsilon and the Finance Club encourage members to advance their knowledge and interest in business and finance.

This year Pi Sigma Epsilon, the national professional fraternity for marketing and sales management, raised money for the Muscular Distrophy Association through a musical chairs contest. Members also conducted several marketing research projects for area firms and the University.

The Finance Club, in addition to regular meetings and field trips, sponsored a stock market game which gave finance majors a chance to learn more about the market and stocks.

Top: Sigma Iota Epsilon induction; below: Sigma Iota Epsilon members socialize.

Promoting high ideals and professionalism in business is one purpose of both Sigma Iota Epsilon and Delta Sigma Pi.

Sigma Iota Epsilon inducted 22 graduate and 23 undergraduate students this year, honoring them for their academic achievements in management courses as well as for their over all academic record. In addition to the annual initiation banquet, members enjoyed a summer picnic.

Delta Sigma Pi is the national fraternity of business administration. This year members met twice a month planning events such as a trip to the Toronto Stock Exchange.

In Business

Preparing students to be responsible members of the business community is the goal of both the Administrative Management Society (AMS) and the Accounting Association.

This year, in addition to weekly meetings, AMS sponsored seminars on writing resumes and interviewing as well as a spring banquet.

The Accounting Association sponsored the "Evening with Accountants", and a Dean's Roast. Members were also active in intramural sports and the association's bowling league.

Nick Kresojevich, president, and Maureen Flanagan organize AMS certificates.

The American Production and Inventory Control Society (APICS) and the American Society for Personnel Administration (ASPA) offer business majors the chance to attain valuable experience.

In addition to regular meetings and field trips ASPA and APICS, along with Delta Sigma Pi, sponsored the "Evening with the Professionals." This gave business students a chance to talk with representatives from area firms.

This year ASPA received the Superior Merit Award from their national affiliate.

Laying a Foundation

American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AICHE) and the Society of Students in Construction are two campus organizations working to lay a strong foundation that future engineers can build upon.

This year AICHE members enjoyed holiday parties, seminars and a North Central Regional AICHE Convention which was held in Michigan during the spring.

Student contractors, in their second year of existance on campus, held meetings every two weeks. Members joined with the Civil Engineers to design and build the concrete sign for Auburn Science Center.

AICHE members enjoy a discussion after a lecture.

Engineering Activities

An inductee is welcomed into Tau Beta Pi.

The American Society of Civil Engineers participated in a number of activities this year. Members built and raced concrete canoes and helped with the planning and construction of the Auburn Science Center sign.

Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honorary, inducted members during the fall and spring banquets this year, honoring them for their achievements in engineering.

This year the Institute for Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE) sponsored speakers and field trips. Members entered a regional paper contest held in Pittsburg.

Sprechen Sie Deutsch?

Delta Phi Alpha, the German honorary, and Der Deutsche Studentenklub (The German Student's Club) work together to provide students of German the opportunity to learn more about the language and culture.

Both organizations participated in the Schlachfest (a social dinner) and the Maskenball (a masquerade dance). This year the German students celebrated 300 years of German immigration into the USA as well as the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther's birth.

In the Medical Field

Students who plan a medical-health career can join one of many related organizations on campus. The Medical Assisting Club, Collegiate Nursing Students Club, and the Future Physicians Club (FPC) each met often hearing speakers and discussing career related subjects.

The Collegiate Nursing Students sponsored Blood Pressure Clinics and a career day in addition to many social activities.

Collegiate Nursing Students sponsor a December graduation ceremony and dinner.

Nursing students offer free blood pressure checks.

Collegiate Nurses hold regular meetings.

Future Physicians offer CPR lessons.

Medical Assisting Club officers smile for the camera.

Future Physicians offered CPR lessons, held mock medical school admission interviews and made field trips to local hospitals and medical schools. FPC members were also involved in drawing the guidelines for pre-med students enrolled at the University.

Medical Assisting Club members participated in the C&T Anniversary with blood pressure checks. They also held a Bike-a-thon to raise money for the mentally disabled as well as their annual Christmas Party and Spring Picnic.

From Other Lands

Nigeria and Turkey are just two foreign lands represented among the University's vast mixture of exchange students.

The Turkish-American Student Association (TASA) is open to any student interested in Turkish culture and tradition. This year TASA met often hearing speakers and planning events such as their spring picnic.

The Nigerian Student Union sponsored many events this year. In addition to regular meetings the Nigerians held debates on issues ranging from the effects of science and technology to the economy of Nigeria.

Top: Emeka Ezibe celebrates Nigerian Independence Day; below: Nigerian Fashion Show.

TASA gives the Turkish flavor to the International Festival.

Issues and Culture

Indian students enjoy speakers.

Students interested in discussing international issues or cultures of other lands have the opportunity to join various organizations on campus.

The International Affairs Society met weekly this year discussing world issues and politics. Members attended the National Model United Nations in New York City and participated in several debates dealing with current issues.

The Indian Student Association met often hearing speakers and planning events such as Diwali, the Indian festival of lights.

World issues set the agenda for discussion.

International Affairs members enjoy parties too.

Mind and Body

The exercising of both mind and body is available to all students through the Philosophy Club and the Outing Club.

The Philosophy Club met weekly, discussing and sharing ideas. Members heard guest speakers once a month with topics ranging from the implications of war to the philosophy of the business world.

The Outing Club planned numerous events including the Road Rally, hikes, biking trips and trips across North America. Club members also enjoyed parties, picnics and football games.

Top: Road Rally participants; right: Road Rally sign up.

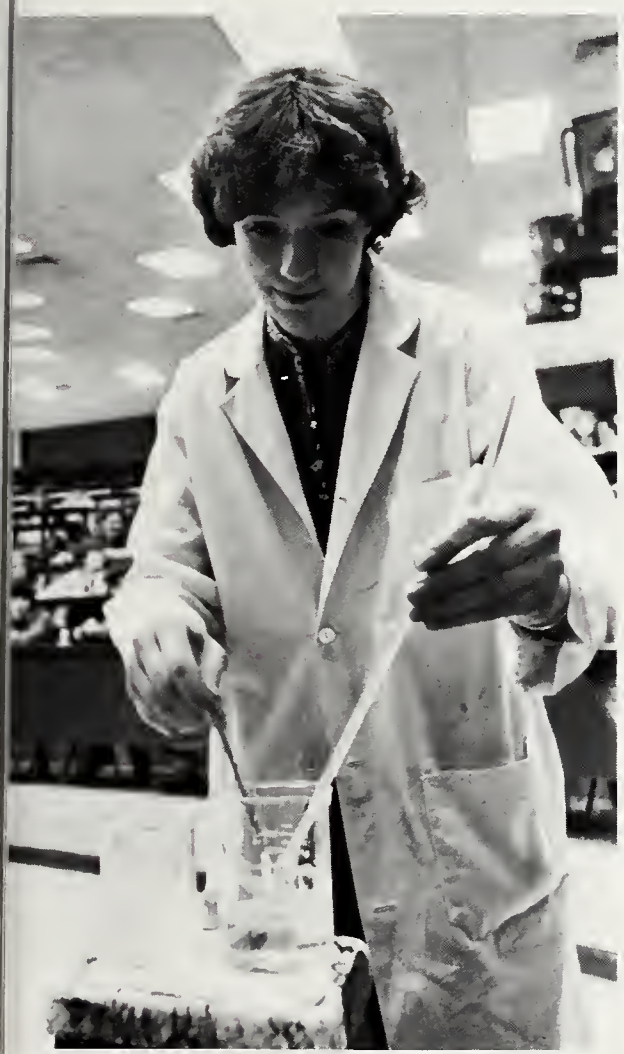
Enjoying Science



The Chemistry Spectacular is a success.

The Electronics Club is a sponsor of the C&T picnic.

Electronics Club members get hands-on experience with technical equipment.

Members of both the Electronics Club and the American Chemical Society-Student Affiliates (The Chemistry Club) gain scientific knowledge while enjoying science.

The Electronics Club met twice a month holding workshops and taking tours of local technical facilities.

The Chemistry Club sponsored events such as the "Chemistry Spectacular" which showed area junior and senior high school students that chemistry can be fun.

Promoting Inter-Action

Promoting inter-action within their departments is one goal that Kappa Omicron Phi, Pi Lambda Theta and the National Student Speech Hearing Language Association (NSSHLA) have in common.

Kappa Omicron Phi is a national home economics honor society. The organization's 19 members met once a month for activities such as panel discussions on the home economist's role. The honorary also sponsored a clothing drive for a school in Appalachia.

Kappa Omicron Phi celebrates Founder's Day with a dinner.

Pi Lambda Theta honors Dr. Guzzetta with a certificate.

Kappa Omicron Phi inductees take an oath.

Pi Lambda Theta, the education honorary, honors both graduate and undergraduate students as well as outstanding professionals in the field of education. The honorary held two initiation ceremonies this year and sponsored lectures dealing with current issues in education.

NSSHLA is an organization open to students in the department of Communicative Disorders. NSSHLA sponsored a Freshmen Open House as well as social activities such as holiday parties and luncheons.

Christian Fellowship

Rev. Bob Clarke enjoys having dinner with Association members.

Members of both Alpha Omega Christian Fraternity and the Ecumenical Christian Association enjoy the Christian fellowship shown through their activities.

In addition to weekly Bible studies, Alpha Omega sponsored Christian concerts and co-sponsored the Campus Olympics with Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

This year the Ecumenical Christian Association held Coffee Houses, Fun-n-Games Nights and dinners as well as weekly prayer meetings. The Association was recognized by Akron Children's Hospital and the Red Bird Mission for their volunteer work.

Serving the Lord

BSU members fellowship after their meetings.

With dedication to serve Jesus Christ, members of University Christian Outreach (UCO) and the Baptist Student Union (BSU) were active on campus this year. Both organizations held weekly Bible studies.

UCO sponsored the christian music group "Crossroads" and a number of social activities such as a square dance in the fall.

BSU attended a state convention for Baptist students, a mid-winter retreat, and a leadership conference.

Serving the Country

Helping students develop and strengthen their skills for a future in the military is an important aspect of both Pathfinders and the Silver Wings Society of Angel Flight.

Pathfinders is an organization for students in the Army ROTC program; Silver Wings is a social organization that supports the Air Force ROTC and Arnold Air Force Society.

The Pathfinders attended many Field Training Exercises (FTX) which provided cadets with the opportunity to practice skills learned in the classroom.

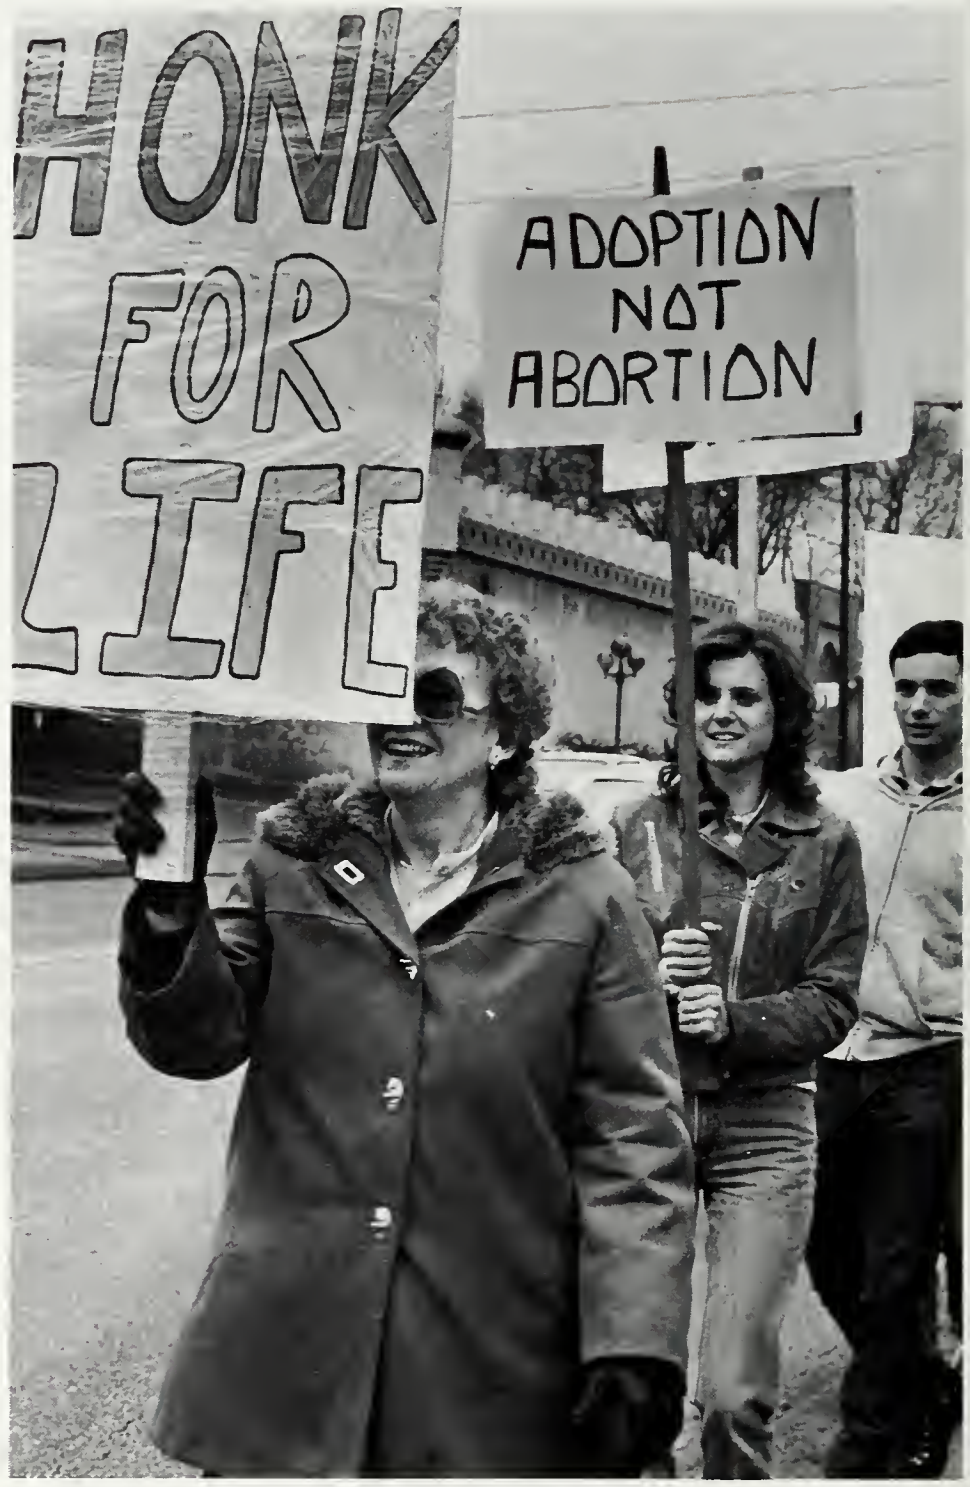
Political Action

United for Life is a pro-life organization on campus. Members met twice a month discussing current issues and working on projects such as writing letters to congressmen and library research.

College Democrats were active in party politics, making two bus trips for Sen. John Glenn's presidential campaign during the democratic presidential primaries.

Theresa Chmielewski holds Right to Life poster child.



United for Life members picket abortion clinics on Saturdays.

Lawyers and Broadcasters

Prof. Charles Kirkwood speaks on law school.

During the year the Pre-Law club toured Case Western Reserve and Akron University Law Schools. Members also heard Prof. Charles Kirkwood speak on "How to Survive the First Year of Law School." The Pre-Law club participated as witnesses in the Regional Mock Trial Competition for Law Schools.

Alpha Epsilon Rho (AERHO), a chapter of the national broadcasting fraternity, was officially installed on campus in October of last year.

AERHO met every two weeks during the year, welcoming speakers from the local broadcast media. The big event of the year was the Dorothy Fuldheim lecture.

Frank Carrino, Pre-Law president, leads a discussion.

EVENTS

Simon and Garfunkel . . .

"Like a bridge over troubled water . . . "

On July 19, 1983, an historic event occurred in the UA Rubber Bowl, when Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel kicked off their national Reunion Tour before 40,000 fans. The standing room only crowd was the first to see the duo perform together in 13 years.

Performing their many songs, Simon and Garfunkel gave the audience an evening to remember. The duo filled the Rubber Bowl with beautiful music, creating many fond memories for those in attendance. University officials hope this will be the first of many outdoor concerts held in the Bowl.

. . . Homeward Bound

New Directions . . . for New Students.

New Directions, sponsored by Student Development, was a program initiated to get students involved at the University and familiarize them with the departments on campus.

Gardner Student Center provided the location for many displays and information tables. Survival Sessions provided information on various topics, including "Time Management" and financial aid. Classical guitar, the Jazz ensemble, and Bobby Gold (Simon Sez of the Stars) shared the entertainment spotlight.

Brunch With the President

One early Saturday morning in December, 70 officers of student organizations had the opportunity to have brunch with President and Mrs. Guzzetta in their home. The brunch, which is co-sponsored each fall by Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, gives student leaders and the president an opportunity to exchange ideas about issues of campus concern.

The theme of this year's brunch was, "Presidential Expectations: How we see each other." Students and Dr. Guzzetta examined their responsibilities as presidents of their organizations. Dr. Guzzetta gave an interesting presentation of the many roles he must fulfill as chief officer at the university. After a brunch and the president's remarks, a discussion on topics ranging from leardership to campus issues was held.

College Ambassador

Chris Slaybaugh, 1983-84 College Ambassador to England.

Christopher Slaybaugh was chosen as the 1983-84 College Ambassador. The program gives students the opportunity to travel abroad and learn about a foreign culture.

On return, the students present slide-illustrated talks on their experience to various groups in the area.

Chris is an Akron native and U.A. sophomore. Besides travel, Slaybaugh enjoys rock climbing and photography.

Many guests had questions.

Homecoming '83

Homecoming Weekend '83, held October 6-8, started with a Bonfire 'n Brew Night. A pep rally on Jackson field and an all-campus party in the Grill Room of the University Club followed.

The highlight of this year's homecoming was a semi-formal, held Friday. The dance featured music by Elegy. About 150 couples enjoyed the buffet and dance, although the Zips were defeated by Eastern Illinois in the homecoming game.

The fall of 1983 marked the Tenth Anniversary of the Black Cultural Center. To mark the event, the theme "B.C.C. in '83" was chosen.

Various programs were held during the fall semester to mark the anniversary.

February, 1984, was the Black History month program and the Cultural Centers' celebration. Speakers and seminars discussed the black family and blacks in educational institutions. The annual Miss Black History Month Pageant kicked off the first Black Alumni and Friends week-end. The history of blacks was displayed in art and performed in dance and music.

Student Awards Dinner

Over one-hundred student leaders, faculty and friends attended this year's Recognition dinner.

Among the evening's highlights, Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa inducted new members. Venita McCall and David White were selected as this year's outstanding Seniors. The Business College won in the Senior Challenge contest. The awards dinner showed the campus that the students are true leaders.

In Recognition

Evening Student Council (ESC) has increased in size and recognition in the past few years. Much of the recognition goes to two faithful board members, both of whom were recognized for their years of service at the Spring Recognition Dinner.

Linda Bunn, the past-year's president, was awarded for her efforts. Barb McCrea-Sculley, who has held the ESC presidency in the past, was not only awarded at this dinner, but was also one of UA's 1984 Outstanding Senior Women.

There's no doubt that the past year marked the celebration of many anniversaries. The Community and Technical College celebrated its 20th Anniversary on Saturday, February 11, 1984.

The dinner was held in the Hilltop area. Keynote speaker was Dr. Dale Parnell, president of American Association of Community and Junior Colleges.

Happy Anniversary

May Day . . .

1984 May Day seemed doomed by the weather; however, Campus organizations co-sponsoring the event UPB, BUS, ASG, ISC, and RHPB, had an idea.

Since weather reports included rain, the May Day committee chose the Exchange Street parking deck as an alternate site for the festivities.

This year's Olympic theme included several contests such as pizza-eating and a tug-of-war.

The wet weather didn't dampen the spirits of the over 8,000 who attended. Students enjoyed entertainment provided by the band "Louisiana Purchase" and radio station WKDD.

The money to build the hall came largely from donations from individual citizens, local and national corporations, and unions. Through a campaign called Challenge '70, headed by community leader Edwin J. Thomas, Akron raised $10.3 million in 1967, most of that money being used for the construction of the hall.

Late in the construction process it was discovered that the moveable ceiling needed additional work. E. J. Thomas again began plans to raise more money. But time was short. So Thomas donated $40,000 himself, and the hall was completed.

GREEKS

Greek Life

In furthering education and preparing for a future career, some University of Akron students find the need to consider educational experiences that will also contribute to social and personal growth. Of the many campus organizations, Greek Life can fill this void by offering a wide variety of activities. The five primary strengths of the Greek System are: an outstanding academic program, a healthy and competitive athletic program, an extensive social life, an unparalled sense of brotherhood and sisterhood, and the opportunity to gain strong leadership experience. The University of Akron's Greeks prove themselves equipped to meet these five basic needs and do so in a style all their own.

Dr. Guzzetta and wife attend the IFC philanthropy.

Leadership

Greeks foster leadership. Eighty percent of the executives of the 500 largest corporations in America belong to fraternities. Sororities and fraternities give their members an opportunity to discover and practice their leadership abilities. The knowledge and experience gained from leadership in a social sorority or frat applies throughout life.

Social

Fraternities and Sororities are social organizations encouraging personal development through social contact. Of the many social functions offered, philanthropic projects are one of the most important. Greeks offer their time and thousands of dollars annually to less fortunate people and worthy causes.

Friends share a laugh at Jam with the Gams.

Athletics

University of Akron Greeks have the opportunity to participate in a well-organized intramural sports program. This program includes eleven different sports: football, basketball, soccer, golf, wrestling, swimming, volleyball, cross-country, bowling, track and field, and softball.

Scholarship

The Greek system at The University of Akron promotes scholarship by offering an atmosphere conducive to improvement. Awards, scholarships, and incentives are common within Greek houses in order to keep members striving toward high standards in academics. National statistics show that out of all incoming freshmen only 47% graduate, while over 59% of the Greeks graduate.

Brotherhood

Perhaps the most cherished asset among the Greeks is the foundation of fraternity and sorority life. While it is difficult to explain Greek life is basically characterized by its most common and identifiable element—friendship. Brotherhood and Sisterhood are not learned, but experienced. The friendships made today are the lasting relationships of tomorrow.

The energenic women of Alpha Delta Pi kept very active in greek and campus life with activities such as raising over $600 for the Ronald McDonald House. Their campus involvement this year earned them second place in the individual Songfest competition, and the most outstanding scholarship award for the sixth consecutive year.

Along with service to their community, ADPi maintains a balance between active campus participation and academic achievement.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega was honored this year by being voted "Top House" on campus. These women were active in fund raising for local agencies in the community around them. They also supported and participated in almost all Greek events. Their participation in songfest earned them first place in the combined and individual competition.

Quality is the key for them. They aim to promote scholarship, brotherhood, and service to all mankind.

Phi Kappa Psi

An evening on the Phi Psi porch.

Phi Kappa Psi fraternity grew extensively this year, their chapter size increased approximately 33 percent. Their winnings also grew from fifth to second place in Deans Cup points, and they took first place in Greek Week intramurals.

These accomplishments, along with a good year in sports and philanthropies, won them The Most Improved Chapter Award.

They won the individual songfest competition, and for the 4th consecutive year the combined songfest. Their glory didn't stop at Akron. These men went on to be nationally recognized as a top TKE chapter.

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon are always striving to strengthen their brotherhood as well as the Greek system.

Theta Chi

Theta Chi made a large effort this year to promote themselves and their image in the community. They raised over $200 during Santa Photo Week to help the March of Dimes. Their French Sewer party was also a blaring success.

Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council

Panhellenic advisor and officers.

This was a year of growth and change in both the Interfraternity Council and in the Panhellenic Council.

IFC brought on two new fraternities, Sigma Nu, and Alpha Epsilon Pi. They also accepted Phi Beta Sigma into the system. A large project this year was the rewriting of the IFC Constitution and By-laws. This document was changed from four pages to eighteen pages of descriptive material. According to IFC President Jim Shulte the new document stresses "IFC as a group of fraternities not as a group of fraternity men."

Both IFC and Panhell received a new full time Greek Advisor, Mr. Brian Patt. The women of Panhell admit that they will miss their past advisor Mrs. Stephanie Barnes, but the advantages of a full-time advisor should increase the productivity of the Greek System.

IFC officers; Treasurer, Dave Baxter, President, Jim Shulte, Vice President of Rush, Bernie Valdez, and Vice President of Administration, Jeff Salamon.

A Very Special Event

IFC and Panhell put on a marvelous philanthropy this year for the Summit County Childrens Home.

It began with dinner at the Delta Gamma house. Over 25 children, 60 Greeks, and Dr. and Mrs. Guzzetta enjoyed sloppy joes, salads, cookies, and an assortment of delicious deserts. After a festive meal the whole group went to the new gym for the Akron Zips opening game. But before the game started all helped to sing Christmas carols and to decorate a tree. Then the children were met by Santa Claus, who had a stocking of goodies for each.

The evening came to a grand finale when a large number of Greeks, the children, and the Guzzettas cheered the team on to a victory.

Rush

Each Greek organization is original, they have different beliefs, attitudes, and goals. Their programs vary as well as their events, but the one event each group must participate in is Rush. Each organization needs new members to perpetuate it, or else it will die.

So what does this mean to the perspective rushee? Should he or she wait a year or two? The answer to this depends totally on his or her lifestyle, and needs. (cont. pg. 205)

Rushee shows her enthusiasm when she receives her bid.

For a freshmen it is an unquestionably excellent way to immediately get involved, meet new friends, and instill a sense of belonging on campus. These are strong points, but for some, waiting means that they will have a more open mind, and a fairer viewpoint. There are also some people who, as freshmen simply are not ready for the rapid Greek pace.

Here at the U. of A. Rush is becoming a larger and larger part of Greek life. In the fall of '83 the fraternity system alone had a 53 percent increase, growing from 275 fraternity men to 425. With three new fraternities in IFC the Greek system at The U. of A. is expected to keep growing rapidly.

Tenors Tim, Steve, Butch, and Dave sprinkle the audience with Stardust.

Songfest

The Greeks have many competitions and events. But out of all of them, Songfest is one of the largest and most challenging.

Each organization does an individual routine and a combined routine. The routines are judged on singing, dancing, costumes, and overall presentation. Before winning this competition many hours of hard work and practice must be spent.

This years winners of both the individual and the combined competitions were the women of Chi Omega and the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Greek Recognition Dinner

The night of the Greek Recognition Dinner is a night of joy for many, and tension for all.

On this evening the whole year winds down into not only a trophy, but into the recognition given to each organization in front of the Greek community, and the campus. This recognition is given to organizations for excelling in a particular area or in all areas for the past year.

"A night of joy for many, disappointment for others, and tension for all."

The greeks at The University of Akron have a well deserved pride, which comes from healthy competition and hard work. This pride does not come or go with a trophy, because each member knows the strength of his or her organization.

RESIDENCE HALLS

The Road To . . .

The residence halls gained new life as over 2400 students began moving in the last week of August. This was the first time away from home for about half of those residents and most were filled with questions. Orientation Assistants helped to answer these questions. These assistants were chosen on an interview basis and planned many of the activities for Freshman Orientation. All of these activities helped to acquaint the students with the University and prepare them for the long road ahead.

The first stop after a long drive is Galucci Hall to register and meet your OA.

The last stop when moving in is Robertson Dining Hall where you receive a meal ticket.

Activities, such as a concert and dance, Playfair, and Almost Anything Goes, highlighted Freshman Orientation.

One must be sure to have everything packed.

Meeting your roommate and his parents can often be an unique and interesting experience.

. . . Improved Communication

Residence Hall Council (RHC) is the chief legislative body of student government in the residence halls. RHC provides a governmental forum to increase communication among and between students, staff, and faculty. Overseen by the executive officers, the four committees of RHC provide the residence hall student with many service, educational, and recreational programs. Some of the programs included the First Annual Broom Ball Classic, Trivia Bowl, and service projects with community organizations like the Akron Bicycle Rodeo and "Food for Friends". RHC serves as the main intermediate for all intramural sports information for the hall residents. Council also provides the hall students with athletic equipment and a Test File from which old tests may be used as a study aid. Residence Hall Council works to provide programs to meet the needs and interests of the residence hall community.

WRHA provides in-house entertainment and information for the residence hall students. Broadcasting at a frequency of 590 AM, WRHA appeals to a broad range of musical tastes as an alternative rock station. The station provides many services for the residence halls, including free remote services for the halls, courtyard concerts, and dinner music in Robertson Dining Hall. Being the only fully student operated radio station at the university, WRHA provides valuable experience in broadcasting, newswriting, and radio production. WRHA is On The Move in providing many programs and services not only to the residence halls, but to all students of the University.

The Resident Assistants (RA's) provide the hall students with a wide range of assistance. Their main job is to help the residents adjust to the residence hall atmosphere and aid them with any questions or problems that may arise. The RA's serve as counselors to help the residents with any type of personal or school-related problem. A large part of the RA's job is to serve as a representative of the residence hall staff and uphold their rules in order to maintain an atmosphere in the halls which is conducive to study.

The RA's are selected in an extensive interview process, which includes role playing and other group activities. Even though the RA's are continuously busy with paper-work, meetings, or in-service workshops, they still have time to interact with their floor members and help them plan the floor parties and other activities. The Resident Assistants work to make the halls a pleasant place to live and provide them with the information to make college life beneficial.

Theme Meals add variety to the menu. Below: Scott Hahlen tops off his hamburger.

Robertson Dining Hall works to provide the residence hall students with meals throughout the year. The dining hall employs approximately seventy-five full and part-time workers that provide an average of 6500 meals a day. The students purchase a meal ticket which allows them to have twenty meals a week.

To break up the monotony of the cycle of meals, theme meals usually fall around the major holidays, like Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. These meals are enjoyed by all of the residents and often present problems with lines waiting to get in going back as far as Bulger. The Dining Services of Robertson, despite vast ridicule, provide the residence hall students with meals that help them to function throughout the day.

The worst part of Robertson is the lines!

. . . Programming With Diversity

Residence Hall Program Board (RHPB) provides social activities for those students living in the residence halls. Governed by an eleven member board, the seven program board committees are responsible for every facet of programming events including: publicity; sound and lights; booking professional entertainers; and recording the events. RHPB provides such major events as Freshman Orientation, Holiday Weekend, Winter Weekend, and Little Sibs Weekend. Many special features also fill the calendar year. These included: Open Mike Nite, an evening of student entertainment; the Down Under, a series of small coffeehouses; and a variety of trips and dances. The programming year ended with Dorm Week, the theme being "Footloose." This gave the hall students a solid week of activities. Residence Hall Program Board works to meet the needs of the residence hall students by providing programs with diversity.

Program Board's display wins first place at the NACA regional conference.

Plans are finalized during weekly meetings. Below: Holiday Weekend provides fun for all.

. . . Holiday Fun

As the semester rolled on, holidays were celebrated in the residence halls. Halloween brought out the ghouls and goblins for RHPB's elaborately decorated Halloween dance. Halloween had a special thrill as the Grant/Townhouse hall government combined to put on the Haunted Basement. RHPB brought Christmas and New Year's Eve a bit early with Holiday Weekend in November. Complete with Santa, his elves and Baby New Year, Holiday Weekend heightened excitement for the Yule Tide season to really arrive. The fall semester ended with RHPB's Christmas Room Decoration Contest. With many people entered, the decision was difficult. The many decorations helped to raise everyone's anticipation of celebrating Christmas and going home on break.

. . . The Down Under

A new Program Board event that proved to be very successful was the coffeehouse service. The event gave the residence hall students a study break where they could meet and socialize while also being entertained. Renamed the "Down Under", the Bulger party room provided the site for many of these coffeehouses. Students as well as professional performers provided the entertainment for the coffeehouses, allowing variety. The coffeehouses gave the residents a chance to take a relaxing break from their school load.

. . . A Weekend Together

Cary Trivanovich closes the weekend.

Sibs vie for spots during musical chairs.

Little Sibs Weekend gave the residence hall students a chance to have their younger brothers and sisters "experience" college life for a weekend. The weekend was filled with activities for siblings of all ages. On Friday, there was a dance with the band, Frendz. The next day began with a rollerskating trip in the morning and continued with an afternoon of games in the dining hall. The weekend closed with pantamimist Cary Trivanovich. The weekend, with the theme "I wanna hold your hand," was a success in bringing siblings together.

The programming of events was not limited to the Program Board. Some of the halls tried their hand and held successful events. In January, the Grant/Townhouse hall government put together a Dance Marathon. Held in the Newman Center, the dancers went for over fifteen hours with the proceeds going to Cerebral Palsey. The Sumner-Torrey hall government hosted the residence hall students to "An Evening at Las Vegas" in February. Complete with blackjack, roulette, and a wheel of fortune, residents "gambled" the night away to receive one of the many prizes donated by area merchants which were auctioned off. The Chris Ormsby Memorial Fund was the ultimate winner with proceeds to help this charity.

In March, the Bulger hall government presented their annual Bulger Beautiful Night. With many contests such as tobacco spitting and gold fish eating, the night was highlighted by the male and female "best built body" contest. With the planning and execution of these events many people were able to experience what goes into programming.

. . . Additional Programming

. . . A Night of Entertainment

One of the most successful RHPB events was Open Mike Nite. It gave the residence hall students a chance to show their talents. Held twice a year, the event featured a wide range of acts. With melodies varying from jazz to rock to mellow ballads, many residents displayed talent, such as acting and juggling. Open Mike Nite gave the residence hall students a break from their studies to entertain each other.

. . . Music of Another Era

An added feature to this year's calendar of events was a Big Band and Jazz Dance held in March. The Dan Zola Orchestra performed as the residents danced to such favorites as "In the Mood" and "Sentimental Journey." With unique refreshments and decorations, the evening provided hall residents with a chance to experience the excitement of the big band era.

Dancers moved to songs like "Jersey Bounce" and "Tuxedo Junction."

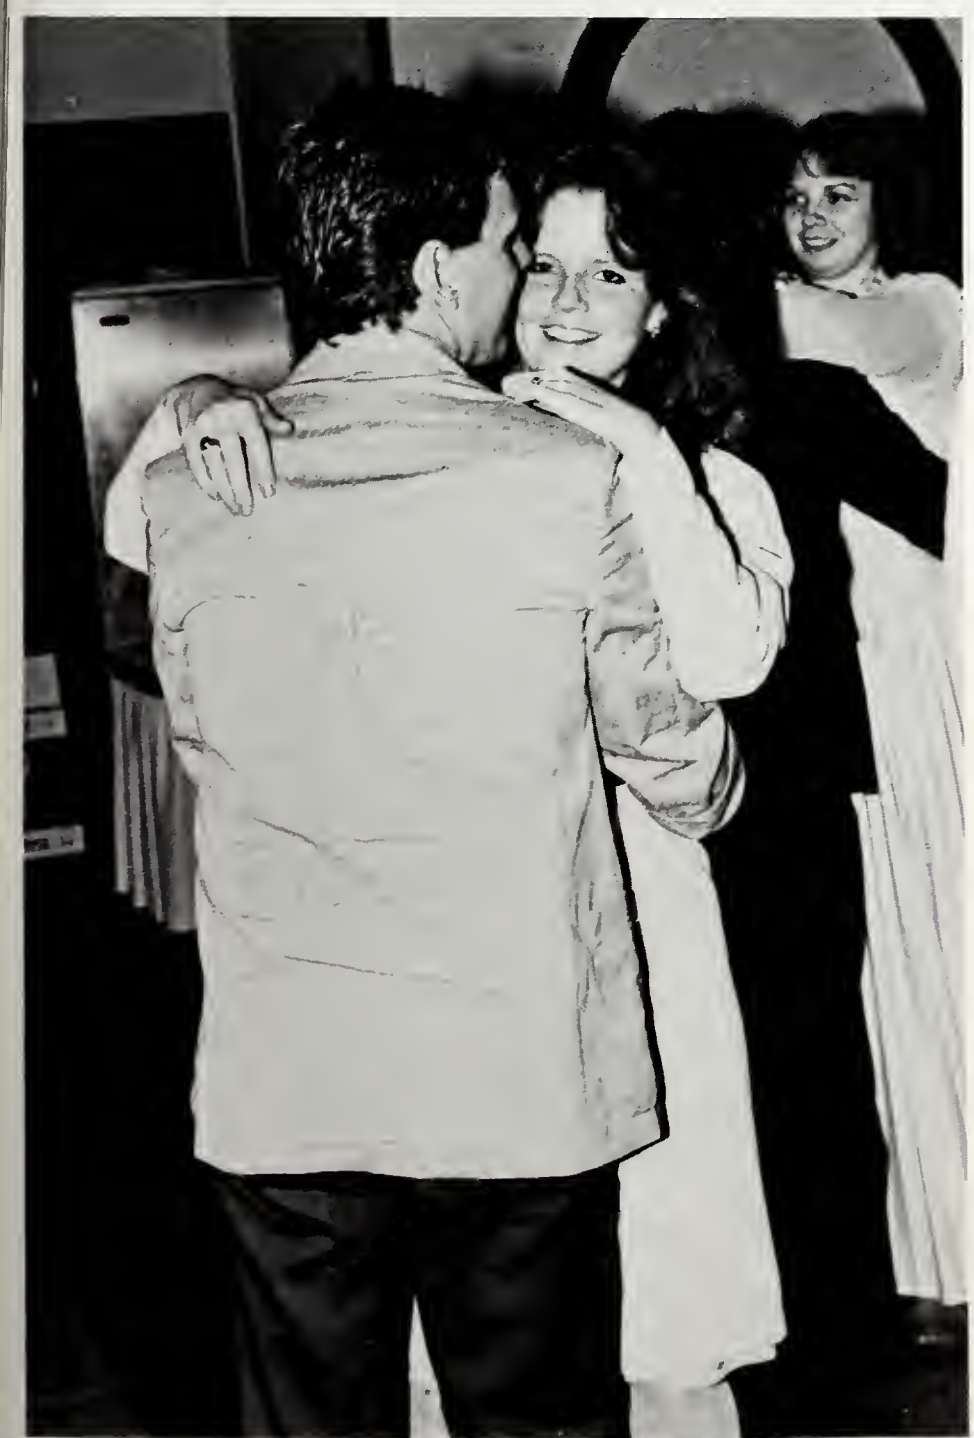
Denise Aeling and Jamie Sidwell show their ballroom style.

Kim Pierce and Ken Carter dance to the sounds of the Dan Zola Orchestra.

Pat Walsh and Caroline Gebhardt dance the night away.

. . . A Romantic Evening

"We've got Tonight" was the theme of the Spring Formal held during Dorm Week. Todaro's Party Center served as the backdrop for the evening which began with a buffet dinner and ended with a night of dancing and socializing. The band, Soft Touch, played throughout the evening helping to create a romantic atmosphere. Everyone left with wine glass favors and lasting memories of the evening.



Jeff Hoagland and Colleen Shea enjoy a special eveing.

. . . Going Footloose

As the spring semester began to roll to a close, Dorm Week 1984 filled the residence halls with increased enthusiasm. A week of activities provided entertainment for everyone's taste. On Monday, Trivia Bowl tested everyone's knowledge on subjects from sports to history. A twilight rollerskating trip to the Springfield Rink highlighted Tuesday. Performing to an overflowing house, the American Express "Starbound" talent show allowed University students to display their special abilities. Everyone met at Mug's to socialize during Thursday's Bar Night. The Friday night Spring Formal allowed the residence hall students to enjoy a night out on the town. Dorm Week concluded with a courtyard concert featuring B.E. Taylor performing their hit single "Vitamin L." Dorm Week gave the residents a break from their school work and built up excitement for the rapidly ending semester.

. . . AGD

The 52 women who lived in AGD had a fun-filled year. In October, the group went on a slightly chilly, but very exciting camping and canoeing trip. Combining with the Annex halls, AGD hosted a Christmas Party along with a Secret Santa gift exchange. Continuing their celebration of the holidays, the hall had a "Kiss me. I'm Irish," St. Patrick's Day Eve Party. The Year ended with a "Wacky Award" banquet at Chi Chi's. This is the last year AGD will be part of the residence hall system and the women living there agree that they ended with a great year.

. . . Battrick and Mitchell

The 43 residents of Battrick and Mitchell built a reputation for themselves in more than one area. Their flag football team won the intramural championship at The University of Akron and went to place third in regional play at OSU. The two halls also became known as "The Home of the Happy Hour" as many successful happy hours were held on Friday afternoons. Participating in the Annex hall government, the women helped plan many programs. The residents of Battrick and Mitchell enjoyed several events throughout the year including watching the construction of the Health and Physical Education Building.

Another casualty signs up during the "Bombing of Berns."

This year the 106 women of Berns Hall continued their tradition of parties that are unique. On December 10, the fourth annual "Bombing of Berns" party was held. This party is held in remembrance of the bombing of Pearl Harbor in 1941 and provided the residents with a few "bombs" of their own. Later in the year, the hall sponsered a "Progressive Rock Era" party. Those attending dressed in the styles of their favorite era, while music from the 50's to the 80's was enjoyed. To raise money for their activities, the Berns residents participated in Senior Challenge, and had a beer raffle.

Many styles of music and fashion were revealed at the Rock Era Party.

With its 491 residents, the men of Bulger developed a unique image for themselves as they developed designs for their floor walls and shirts. These designs, ranging from buzzards to serpents, showed the personality of the floor and produced unity among the floor members. As a whole, the Bulger hall government raised money for its floor activities with a Halloween Pumpkin sale and decoration contest in October and a slave sale in conjunction with Spanton Hall in November. However the "event-of-the-year" for the hall is "Bulger Beautiful." This event allowed residents from all of the halls to display their talents ranging from air guitar playing to body building.

. . . Gallucci Hall

In its second year as a residence hall, New South Hall was renamed Gallucci Hall after the donor of the facility. The 397 men living in the hall enjoyed many floor parties and started a hall newspaper to keep residents informed of campus and university activities and concerns. The Gallucci hall government aided those in the Grant-/Townhouse hall government for their "Haunted Basement," along with many activities of their own. Gallucci celebrated the end-of-the-year with an outdoor party featuring movies, "Porky's" and "First Blood."

.. Orr Hall

The 122 women of Orr Hall enjoyed a very active year. Lead by a strong hall government, the residents hosted many activities to form a close group. With such social activities as hall parties, a hall picnic and ski trip, and a Room Mate Game, the women were able to learn more about each other. With funds raised by a Sweetest Day and Valentine's Day carnation sale, these activities were made possible. In a recently remodeled basement, the residents were able to enjoy study, relaxation, and recreation in the company of other residents.

The 96 women of Ritchie Hall held a variety of activities to bring the residents closer together. Some of the social events were: dinner at Chi Chi's, ice cream socials, a Secret Santa Week, and a Christmas party. The Browns/Steelers party hosted by the hall was enjoyed by residents and their guests. The atmosphere of a football game was created by serving traditional stadium refreshments. The residents gained valuable information on nutrition, self-defense, and value clarification during an "Awareness Week." The sale of chocolate suckers during Halloween and Easter helped to finance the hall activities. The many social and educational programs helped to promote a community among the residents of the hall.

Cook-outs brought residents together.

With 126 residents, Sisler/McFawn Hall kept busy with an active year. The women hosted such hall activities as picnics, cook-outs, and parties. The staff from the hall helped to raise awareness during "Sex Week." During this week, participants gained valuable knowledge on sex roles, stereotyping, and alternative lifestyles. The residents and staff joined together to celebrate Christmas as the hall rooms and lounge were decorated in the style of the Yule tide.

. . . Spanton Hall

The 316 women of Spanton Hall held a great number of events that kept them busy throughout the year. With such social get-togethers as a Christmas party, hall picnic, and an ice cream and bingo special, the residents became better acquainted. These women combined with the men of Bulger for a slave sale and a Family Feud competition. As a fund raiser for their activities, the hall sold donuts, pizza, and buttons throughout the year. For their range of social and educational programs, Spanton Hall was awarded Hall of the Year for creating the most cohesive residence hall community.

The 42 women of Sumner Hall hosted a variety of events that helped them to get to know each other. The residents enjoyed such hall activities as a pizza party, scavenger hunt, and a Christmas party. The women of Sumner also joined the men of Torrey to form a combined hall government. This government held many successful activities highlighted by "An Evening at Las Vegas." By combining these two small halls, residents were able to form lasting relationships within and between.

. . . Thompson Hall

Although the 39 women of Thompson Hall make up the smallest female hall, they host plenty of successful events. The annual Tuck-In service allowed the women to travel around to the male halls and read them a bedtime story before tucking the men in for bed. Their Valentine's Party was highly attended and allowed everyone a chance to find a "valentine" for the night. Aside from their own events, Thompson Hall participated in the Annex Hall government helping with several events.

Torrey Hall

Being the smallest male hall, the 63 men of Torrey Hall worked to produce a community among the residents. Activities such as weekly "Loveboat" parties, the annual "Film Night," and a snowball fight with TWB of the female halls followed by an "after-the-battle" party. Another project of the hall was Lupus, a stray dog who was adopted by the residents. The men of the hall collected money for Lupus and provided her with needed shots and a country home. The residents of Torrey also combined with the women of Sumner to form a joint hall government. The government provided services for the residents highlighted by "An Evening at Las Vegas." The size of Torrey Hall gave the residents a chance to produce a unique community atmosphere.

Grant and the Townhouses

The residents of the Grant Residence Center and the Townhouses joined forces at the beginning of the year. The 362 women and 114 men of these two halls doubled for a unique arrangement and viewpoint in activities. A calendar of events occupied the year for these men and women. In October, the Grant basement was converted into the "Haunted Basement." In January, a Dance Marathon was held with the proceeds benefitting the Cerebral Palsey Foundation. Ice Cream socials, a movie study break, and a game room party were also entertainment for the residents. The year ended with a "Day After" party which was the final bash for the two halls held the day after May Day. The unique arrangment between these male and female halls helped to build a bond between the two groups.

It has become popular for organizations to paint "the rock" to advertise parties, or just to show pride in their organization.

Zippy, Gerard Neugebauer, entertains children of all ages. Student Council member and All-American diver, Bob Savoy, suggested the kangaroo as The University of Akron mascot in 1953. The student council agreed and officially declared the kangaroo as our mascot on May 1, of that year. Pete Demming was the first "Zippy" in 1934 at the inaugural of the Acme-Zip Game.

For 31 years, "Zippy" has been the official mascot at The University of Akron.

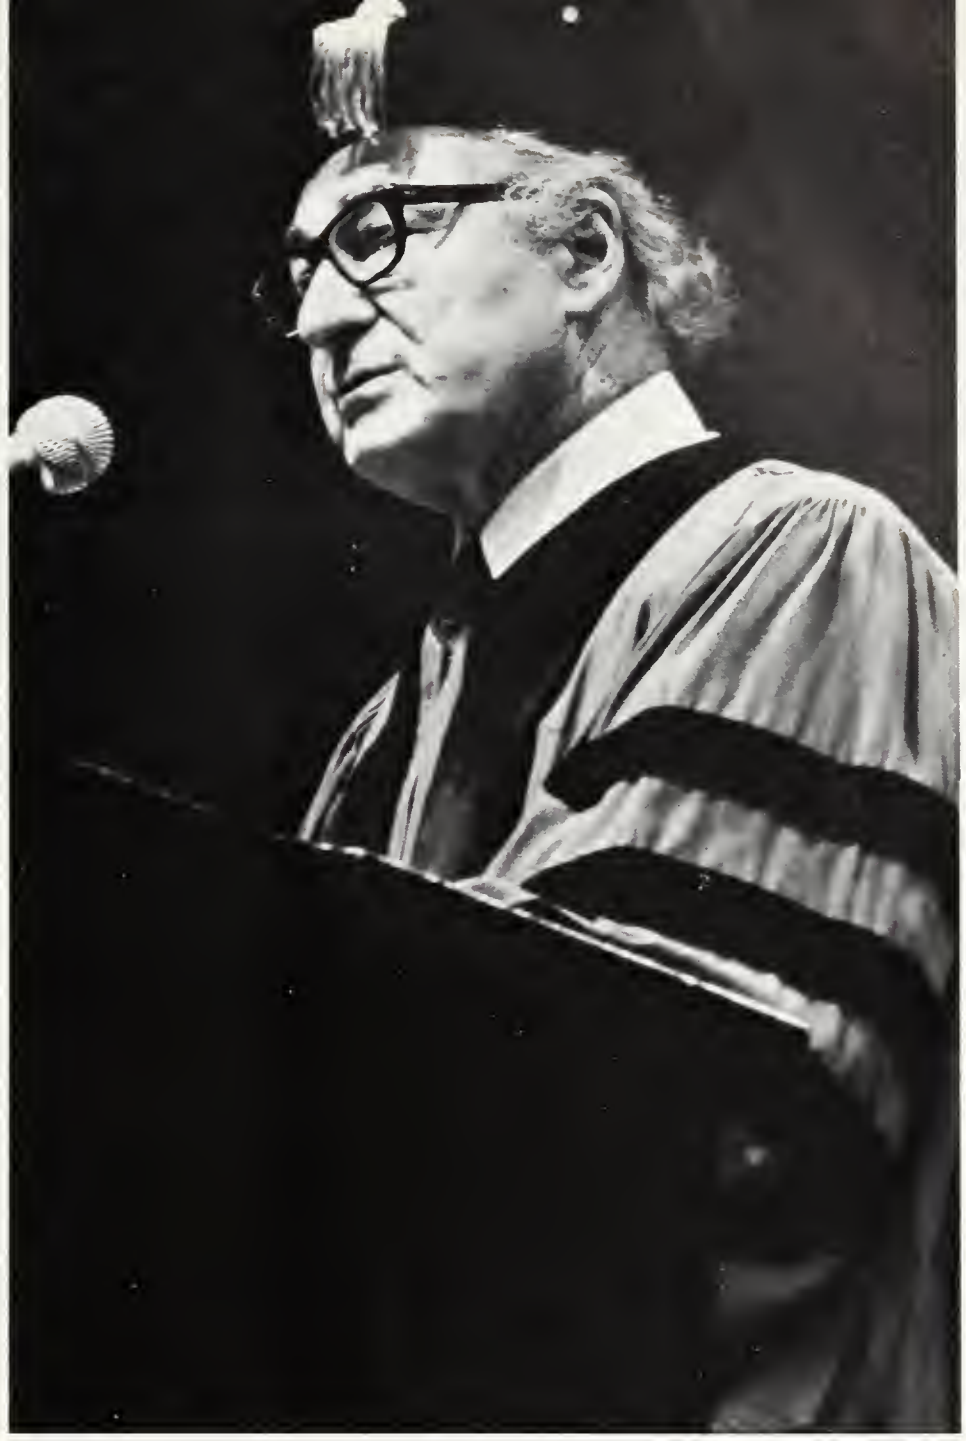
The End of the Road

On May 20, 1984, at the Richfield Coliseum, Dr. Dominic J. Guzzetta attended his final graduation as President of The University of Akron. Diplomas were given to 1,445 new alumni at the University's 112th Commencement.

Despite the dismal, rainy weather, spirits were high as 2,510 associate, bachelor's, and advanced degrees were conferred. This, added to the January conferral of 1,332 degrees, made a total of 3,902.

The School of Law held separate commencement exercises on May 19, 1984, in E.J. Thomas Performing Arts Hall. The 160 graduates were addressed by former Ohio Supreme Court Justice Blanche Krupansky.



The retiring President of The University of Cincinnati, Dr. Henry Winkler, was the commencement speaker for the graduating class. He told graduates the conclusion of this chapter of their academic careers will not be the end of it.

"Education is the means by which a society keeps pace with change," Dr. Winkler said. "By the next century it will be increasingly important for learning to become a lifelong process."

Honorary degrees were awarded Winkler and Gen. William R. Richardson, commander of the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command. Richardson was the speaker at the 31st annual joint Army-Air Force commissioning exercises held in Gardner Student Center on May 19, 1984.

Music for the graduation exercises was provided by Mrs. Jean Blair, teacher of voice at The University of Akron, and the University of Akron Band under the direction of Mr. Richard J. Jackoboice, Director of Bands.

Each year, graduates find creative ways to celebrate their graduation. Nursing students, engineering majors, and others can be easily identified when looking through the graduates. Other graduates send their messages out to the world through notes placed on their mortar boards to be read by all.

The excitement and pride in graduation are seen everywhere as the graduation ceremonies end. Hugs and smiles of joy are exchanged as families and friends celebrate with graduates. All of these memories are captured in photographs that will be treasured forever.

The Road Not Taken

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on today,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

—Robert Frost
